

The intimate biography of Queen Elizabeth, written by her good friend and former governess Marion Crawford, appears exclusively in the Victoria Daily Times in 26 chapters, beginning today. Out of her 17 years of close association with the royal family "Crawfie" has previously published "The Little Princesses" and "Mother and Queen: The Story of Queen Mary."

MY STORY starts on the evening of Nov. 14, 1948, a Sunday. My husband, whose name is George, and I were awaiting an important announcement while listening to the radio at our home in Nottingham Cottage, Kensington.

Suddenly the telephone rang. Before I picked up the receiver, I had an idea what the news would be. I told George to turn down the music on the radio.

Mr. Baker, the Buckingham Palace telephone operator, was on the line and in a clear, cultured voice, he said: "Madam, Sir Dermot Kavanagh would like to speak to you."

A moment later I heard the voice of Sir Dermot, who is the Royal Equerry, in charge of all the Royal horses and motor cars. Unlike Mr. Baker, he did not speak in an evenly modulated voice. He was exuberant:

"Crawfie, I wanted you to be the first outside the palace to know. It's a boy!"

This was about 20 minutes past nine. Soon a bulletin would be winging around the world, but for the moment George and I shared the privilege of being among the first to know.

"You're relieved?" my husband asked. He was always quick to sense my mood.

"Don't be absurd," I said. "I always knew that Princess Elizabeth would do everything perfectly. I have never known her to fail at anything important."

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

I think I spoke with authority. For some 17 years I had been governess to the two little princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. I have a box full of remembrances—letters, Christmas cards, little keepsakes of all kinds. Princess Elizabeth called it my "treasure chest."

I cannot think of any more apt description for what it now contains.

It moved with me from 145 Piccadilly on that fateful day when the two little Princesses and I followed in the wake of the Crystal Coach which was taking the King and Queen to their new home in Buckingham Palace.

There my box stood on the window sill of my room, in plain view, outlined against the net curtain, of passers-by on Constitutional Hill.

And finally the box moved with me from my little Grace and Favour house in Kensington Palace, granted to me for life by His Majesty King George VI when I married and retired from the Royal Service, to this calm house where I now live and find some of the tranquillity denied me in the turmoil of Royal life in London.

This box, now at the end of its journey, tells me what

I told George: Queen Elizabeth will never fail at anything important.

Just as I was one of the first to hear the actual news of the birth of Prince Charles, I was among the first to know months before that a Royal baby was on its way.

One afternoon I was sitting down to tea in my rooms in Buckingham Palace when there came a gentle knock at the door and Princess Elizabeth put her head in.

Princess Elizabeth's visits were seldom a surprise to me. Long before her knock came at the door, I would hear her familiar footsteps outside.

In my many years at the Palace I had become an experienced mood-gauger. Usually a certain un-Royal thump-thump of feet down the passage would warn me that the Princess had some good news to pass on. For example, my door would burst open and a very flushed and excited Princess would sweep in.

"Oh, Crawfie," she would say. "Guess what?" Papa's horse won again today. Or a similar bit of news.

But this day, despite her quietness, I knew that she had bigger news than horse racing. While I waited for it I invited her to have some tea.

"No, thank you, Crawfie," she said in the odd little voice that meant she was nervous or excited.

She crossed the room quietly and gazed out of the window. There was something about her stillness which spoke more than words. I looked thoughtfully at her back.

"I've just come to tell you something, Crawfie," she said after a pause.

She chose her words carefully, still not looking at me. "I'm having the old pram brought out."

I went to her side quickly and put my arms around her. "I'm so happy for you, darling," I said. Then we kissed and wept a little. It seemed hard for me to believe what she was telling me.

The birth of a Royal baby, especially when he is in direct line to the Throne, is an affair of state; but, of course, it is also very much of a private affair. When the child is "expected," the waiting world must be told.

From that moment, months before the birth, the baby is news, and he will be news all his life. The fierce light of publicity will be a burden hard to bear, as no one knows better than his mother, who must share her own joy with all the world.

For Princess Elizabeth there was only a little time—a few precious weeks—when she could nurse and enjoy her secret. We who were close to her knew, of course, before the first speculative hints appeared in the newspapers.

'Laugh, It's in the Script'

Don McManus, "Corvino," in production of Ben Jonson's "Volpone," to be presented by Players' Club Alumni of UBC at Saturday matinee of Dominion Drama Festival, being held at Royal Theatre all this week, tries out one of broad comedy lines from play, while Peter Manning, who co-directs with Philip Keatley, gives lines and gesture

close attention. Rehearsals, discussions were taking place in all parts of Empress Hotel today as casts lost no time in winding up for an all-out bid for the Calvert Trophy and $1,000 cash award announcement of which will crown festival week, Saturday night. Altogether 10 awards will be made following final adjudication. (Times Photo.)

DON'T BE LATE OR YOU'LL HAVE TO WAIT

Feverish Activities Mark Opening of Drama Festival

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Casts and directors from all across Canada were gathering at the Empress Hotel over the week-end, as preparations for launching of the Dominion Drama Festival at the Royal Theatre tonight reached a climax.

Of the eight groups which will stage plays during this week, four had registered Sunday night. The rest arrived today. Rehearsals began immediately and hard-working stage crews and wardrobe mistresses converged on the theatre.

(Other pictures, stories on drama festival Pages 3 and 13.)

The interim was filled Sunday night with a reception in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel, when Donald Cromie, president of the national executive, and members of the executive committee entertained incoming casts and members of the local committee and board of governors.

Edmonton Studio Theatre's production of "Shakespeare's tragedy of 'Othello' will open the festival tonight. The parts of Othello, the Moor, and his lovely Venetian wife, Desdemona, are being played by a real life couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hood.

MRS. HAYNES DIRECTS

Othello, who is lured into the murder of his devoted wife in a passion of jealousy roused by the planting of false compromising evidence in the form of a handkerchief, is considered one of Shakespeare's most poignant and noble characters. Iago, the trusted officer whose own jealousy prompts his cruel deception, is probably one of the most enviable parts to be assigned to any actor.

The play is directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, who has an international reputation in the theatre.

Approximately 300 visitors are in town for the festival and theatre conference which takes place at the Empress, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings and afternoons. Thursday afternoon will see a performance of the unique Indian music-drama, "Tzinquaw," staged at the York Theatre for the benefit of conference visitors.

The curtain goes up at 8:15 tonight—and don't be late, for rules of the festival say that if you are, you will have to wait for a suitable interval before being shown to your seat.

Special Study Plan For Criminal Code

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Commons committee on criminal code revisions today presented its final report to the House, recommending special study of the nation's laws dealing with capital punishment, insanity and lotteries.

The committee's report, presented by chairman Don Brown (L., Essex West) called for the establishment of a royal commission or a joint parliamentary committee.

JET AIRLINER CRASH CAUSE UNEXPLAINED

43 Killed When Comet Goes Down

CALCUTTA (CP)—One of Britain's famed new Comet jet passenger planes crashed in a heavy storm near here Saturday and airline officials said all 43 persons aboard were killed.

It was the first disaster in the brief history of commercial jet air travel and the first fatal crash of a Comet carrying a payload.

The four-jet airliner operated by the British Overseas Airways Corporation crashed only a few minutes after it took off from Dum Dum airport here for New Delhi.

It was on a flight from Singapore to London. Radio contact with the plane stopped six minutes after it took off in a heavy rain.

A ground rescue party reached the wreckage Sunday afternoon and reported none of the 37 passengers and crew of six had survived the crash, which occurred 22 miles northwest of Calcutta in barren country. Preliminary reports said the crash may have been caused by a fire or explosion shortly after take-off.

TWO CHILDREN DIE

The victims included 11 women, one of them the stewardess, and two children.

The crash came on the first anniversary of Britain's profitable and dramatic 500-mile-an-hour jet travel service. The Singapore-London schedule had been opened only recently. BOAC's eight Comets have carried 27,700 paying passengers to many corners of the world in the past 12 months without a single death or injury.

A Canadian Pacific Airlines Comet crashed at Karachi, Pakistan, last March, killing all 11 persons aboard. The plane was being delivered for the start of a C.P.A. schedule across the Pacific. Another comet—this one carrying paying passengers—crashed on takeoff at Rome on its way to South Africa last October but no one was hurt.

Villagers who saw Saturday's crash said the plane was aflame as it streaked earthward. Both wings were torn off.

Villagers said they heard people crying from the plane's fuselage but would-be rescuers were forced back by explosions. Many of the passengers had been on their way to London for the Coronation. Thirty-five of the dead were Britons. Three were Americans.

The dead included: Edgar W. Bateman, senior scientific officer at the supply ministry experimental station near Salisbury, England.

Rev. Paul Snead, Methodist missionary in Malaya, returning to his home and family at Nyack, N.Y., on leave.

Frederick Mitchell, 55, of Southgate, England, home director of the China Inland Mission.

Miss Jean S. Cohen and Miss Anita Whistler, Americans on a round-the-world tour.

HAND-TO-HAND IN TRENCHES

Canadians Smash Chinese Assault

RCRs and Princess Pats Win Fierce Korea Battle

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Canadian troops Sunday beat back 750 to 1,000 Chinese in a fierce 2½-hour battle inside Allied lines on the western front northeast of Panmunjom.

The 8th Army said the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry took the brunt of the Red assault.

"The Reds were driven off only after 'intense hand-to-hand combat in the trenches,' the 8th Army said.

A Canadian spokesman said the Chinese attacked about 11:30 p.m. Saturday night after ambushing a Canadian patrol in no-man's-land.

A second patrol was sent out to rescue the remnants of the first. Then the Chinese attacked the main British and Canadian positions.

The Reds opened up with a 1,000-round barrage of artillery and mortar fire on the Commonwealth positions northeast of Korangpop between Little Gibraltar Hill and the Hook.

Little Gibraltar and the Hook are 10 to 12 miles northeast of Panmunjom, where the armistice talks are being held.

The Chinese made a feint toward the British Royal Fusiliers with heavy mortar and machine-gun fire, and then hit the Canadians.

"They came in screaming, hurling grenades and firing heavily," one British officer said.

During the attack the second Canadian patrol returned and found the Chinese had overrun their forward trenches.

"One of our men came back to find Chinese looting his bunker," said a Canadian officer. "Two of them came out carrying his boots. He killed them, took his boots back to his bunker and put them under his bed."

By 2 a.m. Sunday the Canadians had cleared out all the Chinese and forced them to withdraw.

The fighting was the toughest in which the Commonwealth Division has been involved since it returned to the line about a month ago.

Meanwhile, the United States Navy, in one of its heaviest blows of the war, flattened 228 Communist buildings on the Korean northeast coast Sunday.

Two carriers, the Princeton and the Valley Forge, hurled scores of planes into the attack on supply areas around Hungnam and Humhung.

The 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey stood off shore and pounded the area with its 16-inch guns.

St. Laurent, Eisenhower To Talk Soon

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent leaves Thursday for Washington to confer with President Eisenhower on three main Canadian-American issues. A government spokesman said today Mr. St. Laurent would report to parliament on the talks early next week.

The St. Lawrence seaway, American import restrictions on Canadian farm products and joint Canadian-American defense were expected to be discussed by the two leaders in their first meeting since Eisenhower became President. They last met in 1951 when Eisenhower came to Ottawa as commander of NATO forces.

The Prime Minister will leave Ottawa by plane and return on Saturday. He will be accompanied by External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson and J. W. Pickersgill, clerk of the privy council.

Mr. St. Laurent's stay in Ottawa after his Washington trip will be short. He will leave May 19 for London to attend the Coronation.

March U.S. Federal Taxes Below Estimate

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue reported today it collected a record $10,275,000,000 in federal taxes during March—always the year's biggest collection month.

Though the March figure was $700,000,000 higher than March, 1952, it was lower than treasury officials had hoped.

The size of the March collection confirmed administration fears that revenues for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, will fall below the Truman estimate of $68,700,000,000.

Tory Member Faces House Questioning

Tie-Up Between MP And Firm Queried

OTTAWA (BUP)—Questions have been placed on the House of Commons order paper for information on the financial relationships of yet another Member of Parliament with the federal treasury.

The government was expected today to give an early answer.

John Charlton (PC-Brant Wentworth) is generally understood to be the political target of questions which concern business done by Rosehall Nurseries Ltd., of Brantford, with the federal government.

Charlton is said to be a director and principal shareholder of Rosehall Nurseries. The questions were placed on the House order paper by J. H. Rooney (L-Toronto St. Paul's). They ask if Rosehall Nurseries Ltd. had any contracts with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation or any other branch of the government since 1949; if Rosehall Nurseries are performing any government contracts at present; what are the amounts involved in all contracts; and who are the directors of Rosehall Nurseries Ltd.

The questions are the first of the present session involving a Conservative member of the House in alleged financial transactions with the government.

Rival Unions Open Peace Parley Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL and CIO leaders open negotiations today on a new "peace" pact to halt battles between rival unions of the two giant labor organizations and pave the way for labor unity.

Two three-man subcommittees, led by Presidents George Meany of the AFL and Walter P. Reuther of the CIO, were scheduled to start long-range conferences aimed at wiping out "raiding" the fight by one union to oust another as bargaining agent in an industry.

The conferences represented the first step in a new attempt at merging the two unions into a powerful single federation of 12,000,000 workers.

Five previous tries at unity since 1937 ended in failure.

ROSENBERG APPEAL BEFORE COURT TODAY

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court may act today on the third appeal of convicted atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

If the court refuses to review their case, as it did on two previous occasions, the death sentences imposed on the husband and wife may be carried out as soon as word of the action officially reaches the trial court in New York.

Defense Attorney Emanuel H. Bloch has said, however, that he intends making another clemency plea to President Eisenhower. The Rosenbergs' first clemency plea was denied by the White House.

French Civilians Freed by Koreans Say Treatment OK

PARIS (AP)—Amid laughter and tears, 14 French civilians returned to France Sunday night, free after two years and eight months as prisoners of the North Koreans.

Five men, eight women and one child alighted from a French military plane which had flown them from East Berlin, and flung themselves into the arms of excited friends and relatives.

Le Bourget air terminal was thrown into happy confusion as the repatriates, led by Georges Peruche, former acting charge d'affaires and consul-general in Seoul, were besieged by photographers, reporters and relatives. The group, freed last month, left Pyongyang for Moscow April 17 and were flown to Berlin in a Soviet plane.

All appeared in good health. Perruche said none of the 14 had been physically mistreated during the long ordeal.

Wisconsin ranks first among the states of the U.S. in production of beets and green peas.

U.S. Governors Briefed on World Problems

Conference Opens In Washington

WASHINGTON (UP)—Governors of 45 states and five territories came here at President Eisenhower's invitation today for top-level briefings on national and world problems and to see secret films of the latest weapons.

Mr. Eisenhower cancelled his usual Monday morning meeting with Republican Congressional leaders to welcome the governors at the opening of the extraordinary two-day conference.

He also will address the governors Tuesday at the end of their meetings in the fourth floor conference room of the old state department building adjacent to the White House.

But he did not plan to sit in on the secret briefings which the governors will receive from cabinet members and other top officials on foreign policy, defense plans, budget balancing and other knotty problems confronting the administration in its "peace offensive."

The conference was designed to give the governors a "first-hand picture of the present state of the world and the role of the United States in it."

Mr. Eisenhower hoped that the meetings would result in getting "full co-operation" from the governors.

2 Dead, 300 Families Homeless in Flood

ATLANTA (UP)—Flood waters covered a section of southern Louisiana today, leaving two persons dead and at least 300 families homeless.

The deaths boosted to 43 the number of persons killed in six days of turbulent weather in the south. The others died in tornadoes and storms that had struck the south beginning last Tuesday.

In Louisiana four rivers in the area just north of the delta region overflowed their banks Sunday after a 10-inch rainfall and covered an estimated 500,000 acres of cropland with six to eight inches of water. The flash flood washed an automobile from a road into six feet of water near Baton Rouge, La., killing two passengers listed as Mrs. Edna Boudreaux and five-year-old Jack Boudreaux.

Officials said the floods in the heart of Louisiana's rich truck farming region would add millions of dollars to the toll of storm property damage which already had been estimated at $20,000,000.

More stormy weather was forecast for today in the form of possibly violent thunderstorms.

1,300,000 Germans Said Still Missing

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—Some 1,300,000 members of Germany's Second World War armed forces are still listed as missing in action, most of them in Russia and Soviet satellite nations, the German Red Cross has disclosed.

Red Cross officials said their figures are based on information received from families of the missing servicemen.

WATCHMAKING DIGEST

By Little & Taylor

High Precision Watch Timing Is Now Done by Electronics

Thanks to electronic science, a new highly-accurate principle in the timing of watches has been developed—a remarkable advance for the watchmaker.

The previous method of timing and adjusting watches has been a somewhat lengthy process, often requiring several days for checking, adjusting and resetting until accuracy was attained. Through an electronic device, this lengthy process is now shortened to a few minutes and many of the irregularities associated with older methods have been eliminated.

It is now possible to call in and have your watch adjusted to accuracy in a few short minutes while you wait, or leave it to be picked up after another appointment.

Little & Taylor are proud of their past records in watchmaking and believe that their future service in this department will be speeded up and improved to a very great extent.

For electronic watch timing, call on Little & Taylor, jewelers and watchmakers, at 1209 Douglas Street.

Author, Actor Should Combine To Establish Canadian Theatre

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

"Why do Canadians feel that in order to create Canadian plays they must write about the mounties or prairie farmers?"

The rhetorical question was put by Pierre Lefevre, British actor-director-playwright, during a press conference at the Empress Hotel, Saturday night. Mr. Lefevre, who will adjudicate from the stage of the Royal Theatre for the first time tonight, when the Dominion Drama Festival opens with "Othello," gave it as his opinion that only playwrights and compact, permanent acting companies, working in conjunction, could produce a real and flourishing Canadian theatre.

"The finest plays have always been written when there was a particular company for whom the author was writing them," Mr. Lefevre pointed out, instancing Shakespeare.

Moliere, and the Abbey Players who had fanned the genius of Lady Gregory, John Millington Synge and Seann O'Casey.

He feels that playwrights in this country are too bound down to find an individual Canadian idiom when all they have to do is have something worth saying and say it in good dramatic language.

"It will come out with a distinctive Canadian flavor," he commented. "You may be sure of that."

Further discussing the subject of what makes Canadian theatre, Mr. Lefevre, who adjudicated the 13 regional festivals across the country last year, commented that the Dominion Drama Festival is doing a terrific job.

"It is raising standards, throwing out a challenge, and, not least important, bringing groups of people from one part of Canada to another, so that they get to know each other's viewpoints and the country they live in," he remarked.

To the best of his knowledge it is unique. There is no other organization in the world quite like the Dominion Drama Festival. As to quality, two or three plays he saw last year, he felt, were the best he had ever seen. Compared since with Paris or London, that estimate still stood, in his opinion.

In comparing amateur and professional theatre, Mr. Lefevre expressed the opinion that better team work, and spirit was to be found among amateur companies than in the commercial theatre, where companies are brought together, paid to do a job and rehearsed under pressure with one eye continually on the expense account.

An amateur group having good standards, working together continually, can create a style, a spirit, he said, which make for true national theatre.

Mr. Lefevre is young, rather ascetic looking, with a warm pleasant smile and a simple, straightforward and deeply genuine manner. Audiences will find him an uncompromising critic because his integrity as an artist is too high for compromise.

They will find his quiet enthusiasm infectious and compelling; his searching analyses informing; and his sympathetic understanding a factor making for pleasant feeling all round.

COL Declines Fifth of Point During March

Food Index Leads Drop in Prices

OTTAWA (BUP) — The consumer prices index dropped a fifth of a point in March, led by declines in retail prices of fresh meats, potatoes and butter.

The Bureau of Statistics reported today that index stood at 114.6 on April 1, compared with 114.8 on March 2. It was the fifth consecutive drop in the index, which is the most statistical indicator of the impact of price changes on the cost of city dwelling in Canada.

The bureau said there were small changes in all the sub-groups surveyed in compiling the index.

The food index dropped from 111.7 to 110.9. Lower beef, veal, lamb, potato and butter prices were chiefly responsible. This over-balanced the "firmer prices" for eggs, coffee, apples and processed pork.

The index for commodities and other services dropped from 115.2 to 115, chiefly because of the removal of the radio license fees. There were slight advances in the cost of health care items.

The index for household operation advanced from 116.7 to 116.9 because of higher electricity rates. The bureau's index on shelter costs went up from 122.5 to 122.7 because of a 2 per cent increase in rents, which were surveyed during the month.

The clothing index remained unchanged at 109.7. The cost of living index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, dropped from 184.2 to 183.9 during the same period.

HOWE HOPING GRAIN STRIKE END WEDNESDAY

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said today in the Commons he hopes grain will be moving by Wednesday at Vancouver, where shipments have been blocked for weeks by a strike of grain-elevator workers.

Mr. Howe gave no details, merely saying it is hoped grain will be "flowing through the spouts"—presumably of the grain elevators—by Wednesday.

He was replying to a question by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) as to progress being made in negotiations.

De Gaulle Suffers Disastrous Defeat In French Voting

PARIS (Reuters) — Partial results from the second round of country-wide French municipal elections showed today that Gen. Charles de Gaulle's rightist party suffered a disastrous defeat.

The interior ministry said the trend from Sunday's balloting was about the same as in voting the previous Sunday. No figures were given.

A ministry spokesman said the Communists have remained by far the country's biggest single party, followed by Socialists who made notable gains. The moderate independents fighting a municipal election for the first time under the banner of former premier Antoine Pinay have also made a solid increase, he said. The Pinay gains are largely at the expense of the Gaullists.

Special Lacquer Coating Boosted Speed of Mig

PARIS (UP) — The Soviet Mig-15 jet fighter which pilot Francis Jarecki landed in Poland recently was coated with a glass-like "lacquer" which increased its speed by 100 to 150 miles an hour, the conservative morning newspaper Figaro said today.

In an article supporting Gen. Mark W. Clark's $100,000 offer to the first Communist pilot delivering an undamaged Mig to United Nations authorities in Korea, the paper's military writer said he recently met a Danish air force colonel who examined the plane.

The colonel said thorough examination revealed the Mig was "totally spread over with a transparent and invisible glazing, a kind of glass-like lacquer which gave it an absolutely perfect surface polish capable of considerably reducing air friction at high speed," the writer said.

"Our experts estimated this lacquer increased its speed by 100 to 150 miles an hour."

Dulles Fights U.S. Tariff Barrier Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary John Foster Dulles said today a tightening of U.S. tariff barriers against imports would push other free nations toward trade with the Communists.

He urged the House ways-and-means committee to kill a bill by Representative Richard Simpson (Rep., Pa.) which would bolster tariff protection for American industries against competition from cheaper foreign goods.

Dulles said adoption of the Simpson bill "would have serious international repercussions" and would be "injurious to the best interests and welfare of the United States."

"It would be taken, throughout the free world, to forecast U.S. trade policies which would make it impossible for them (U.S. allies) to live without increasing association with and dependence on the Communist world," Dulles said.

His attack on the Simpson bill opened a wide schism between the Eisenhower administration and some leading House of Representative Republicans.

THE POLITICAL POT

British Columbia's Social Credit and Liberal parties today officially kick off their election campaigns—37 hectic days before the June 9 election day.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett at Summerland tonight will outline his party's platform on which the Socials hope to ride to victory.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, who has just resigned as a federal MP for Vancouver South, formally starts his party's drive at a Duncan meeting tonight.

Both leaders have gruelling itineraries from now until election day. They will appear in most ridings.

CCF Leader Arnold Webster and PC Leader Deane Finlayson have been campaigning for some time.

Two popular native sons will do battle in the Nanaimo riding June 9.

Dr. Larry Giovando, Tory M.L.A. in the last Legislature, has been nominated and ex-mayor Earle Westwood will be Social Credit's candidate.

Observers are looking for a close contest.

Dr. Giovando was nominated while a patient in Vancouver General Hospital. He is suffering from a chest ailment.

Coffee parties for political leaders are becoming the thing.

PC chieftain Dean Finlayson started it, and this morning Ladysmith ladies held one for Liberal leader Art Laing.

Esquimalt CCF candidate Frank Mitchell starts his campaign at View Royal Community Hall at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Supporting speaker will be Colin Cameron.

How these helping hands do get around!

(Can you guess whose they are?)

Someone you know may have helped set up a new shopping centre like this in your community. That someone might be anyone who owns life insurance—probably you. For part of every premium paid by policyholders is invested in ways that result in new stores, homes, highways, apartments, power plants and similar developments.

The policyholder plays a part in creating jobs too. This is a by-product of other investments of his life insurance dollars which help develop many different business enterprises. Result: jobs for thousands of workers—including, perhaps, himself.

Again, in this medical research laboratory, you'll find the life insurance policyholder's helping hands at work. You and your family may live longer, healthier lives because some of this money aids science's study of polio, heart diseases, processes of ageing and child health.

Even the financial security which the life insurance owner provides for his family is also a service to his fellow citizens. For, if anything happens to him, his family is less likely to be a financial burden to others.

In all these ways, the people who own life insurance—probably including you—are helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

Ready To Go It Alone

PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT has been quick to give support to the suggestion voiced last week by Transport Minister Chevrier, that Canada and the United States should build two separate seaway channels in the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

This is a totally new proposal, no doubt advanced with a purposely dual intent. It may be viewed either as a last call to spur the United States into taking an active part in the great seaway plan, or as a final word as to what our neighbor can do at a later date if it misses the boat at the present time.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Plan, as everyone knows by now, is composed of two phases. One is the great hydro-electric development of the river, costing some $400 millions and designed to relieve power shortages already being felt in Ontario and New York State. The other phase, estimated at $300 millions, involves construction of channels and locks which will permit the passage of seagoing vessels into the Great Lakes.

Preparations for the first phase have almost been completed. The Ontario Hydro Commission has been designated as the Canadian entity which will carry out the power development in conjunction with a corresponding United States agency. Delay, however, has occurred in naming the latter.

New York State appears to be the logical candidate, but has been opposed by a private applicant, leading the federal licensing commission to institute a prolonged investigation of the applications. This ultimately must come to an end, however, and it is then to be expected that the power project will quickly get under way.

The seaway phase, as a joint effort, appears more doubtful. President Eisenhower, like his predecessor, President Truman, has announced his support of the plan. Senator Taft, long an opponent, has now become an advocate. But Congress, under the barrage of port and transportation lobbyists, has year after year permitted the bill to die in committee.

More than a year ago Canada recognized that these stalling tactics could effect a permanent negation of the plan. It was then that Ottawa began to talk openly of going into the project single-handed.

This was interpreted at first as a bluff in the hope that the United States would be moved to participate for fear of missing something. But as time went on, the idea gained popularity. The "lone wolf" project was shown to be within the financial capacity of this country, particularly as sole ownership of the ship channel would result in a sizeable income from its use by foreign shipping.

The latest suggestion adds weight to the Canadian intention. In presenting the matter to Parliament, the Prime Minister said he has been assured by experts that it will not be long before two canals are required in the rapids section. Duplication obviously would enhance security aspects of the seaway, as well as provide for traffic expansion.

Mr. St. Laurent added that it continues to be government policy "to proceed alone" failing arrangements for a joint undertaking. Only United States delay in naming a hydro authority now holds up commencement of the plan. At least it is known that we mean, and are able to do, business.

No Support, No Service

WHEN MEMBERS OF THE Saanich Recreational Council considered their plans for this summer they came to the conclusion that lack of district support from parents and adults relieved them of any obligation to care for the Oak Street playground.

That decision should be noted by all who are interested in the subject. It underscores the point that such recreational supervision is not and should not be an entirely paternal arrangement.

There may be excellent reasons for the lack of support the council noted among Oak Street adults. Perhaps they are not impressed with supervised play. Perhaps they do not feel themselves able to spare the time to participate in supervision. Conceivably they would rather devote their leisure and their energies to some other activity.

Whatever the reason for apparent absence of interest, one point has been made very clear. A service such as this is worth what is paid for it in money, time or effort. If the expenditure of any of those three is withheld, the council obviously has no responsibility to discharge.

That fact should be recognized by parents and supervised playground proponents alike. The service should neither be taken for granted, nor imposed upon those reluctant to contribute to it.

Just Push The Button . . .

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT has raised at least a corner of the curtain of secrecy that hangs over the vast wasteland in Australia where Britain has been carrying on research in modern weapons.

Or Saturday, at Woomera, it was revealed that in the last three years, 700 rockets and 440 other missiles have been released over the 1,200 mile testing range. But the crowning efforts of what Australia's Prime Minister Menzies described as "the most important defense program in the world," were revealed in the form of a supersonic robot jet plane and an atomic rocket.

The jet reportedly took off at the touch of a button on the ground, after which it was prepared to "smell out" and destroy an enemy plane. The rocket was kept in still greater secrecy, but was described, after its departure into space with a reverberating blast, as a potential atomic weapon able to hit targets hundreds of miles distant.

These developments appear to be the natural culmination of high speed, incredible explosive power and electronic control. They represent answers to problems of attack and defense posed by great bomber fleets and fighter escorts.

Guided automatically, or by men secure in remote control posts, they bring a great stride nearer the prospect of so-called push-button war, in which whole cities and countryside will lie more or less helpless under the onslaught of unseen missiles.

In the wrong hands they could bring that war on quickly. In the right hands they may act as a deterrent to a too-early descent into mankind's final act of suicide. They pose the 20th century equivalent of the unstoppable canon ball and the immovable post—a problem the average man will gladly leave answered.

AMONG MOVING PICTURE PATRONS it is easy enough to pick an argument about the respective merits of Italian, American, British or French major productions. Each has its supporters.

Canada provides no entries to join the controversy. But Canada, in a quiet and efficient way, has been proving its ability in a specialized field of moving picture work. A season or two ago "The Loon's Necklace" received international recognition for its outstanding merit. Recently "Neighbors" won the top award in its class while Hollywood was passing out Oscars. Last week "The History of Transportation in Canada," or, as it is titled in French, "Sports et Transports" was judged the best animated cartoon in the short-picture section of the international Cannes film festival.

In its specialties the National Film Board is building up an imposing record. This country is producing its champions without much fanfare—which is a thoroughly Canadian and commendable way to go about the process.

They'll Keep It Moscow

THE MAYOR OF MOSCOW, Idaho, has a point which many will appreciate when he says he and others like him, "being loyal Moscovites, like our name." He doesn't want it changed, and if any alterations are to be made, he suggests they be effected in the name of the Russian capital.

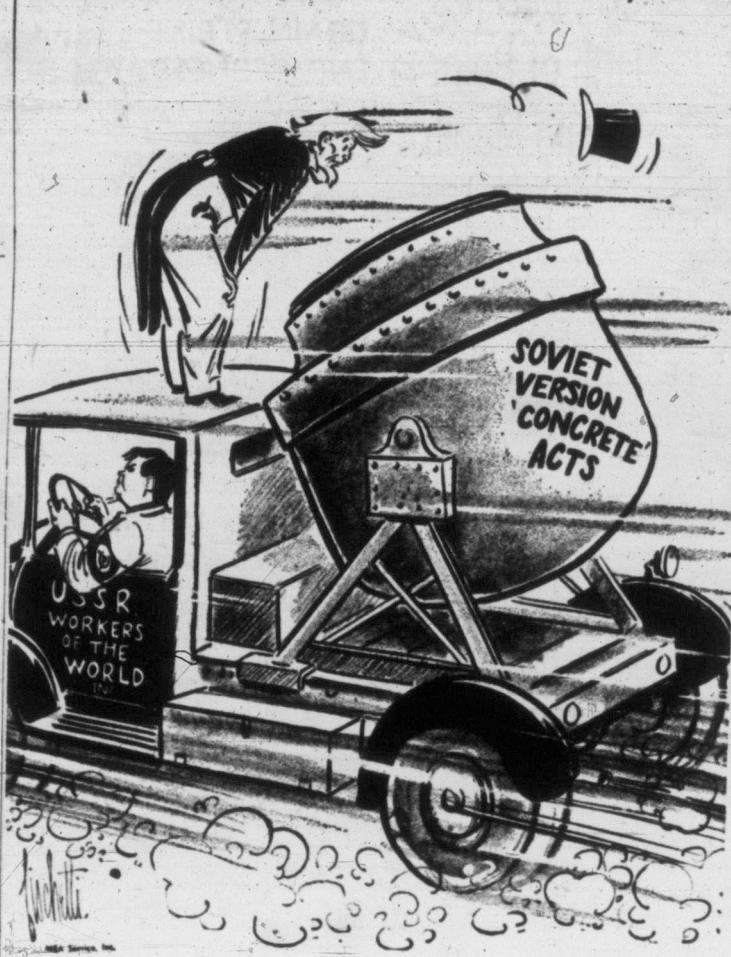

That won't happen. Moscow, Russia, has a certain priority in the matter. The city was born in 1156 and has been operating under that name a few centuries. On the other hand, the Idaho university town was settled in 1870 and incorporated 17 years later. Only two-thirds of a century Moscow has been Moscow in Idaho, although that is a fair length of time for northwest centres.

And in the perspective of history, there have been countless years when Moscow in Russia was a respectable name. In the future—if there is a future—it may become reasonably respectable again.

In the meantime, there is a certain advantage in having a Moscow, Idaho, to illustrate the democratic processes which might add grace to its much older namesake.

Exercise Caution Around Cement Mixers, Sam

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

FOR some reason of their own, the Dairy Farmers of Canada (an outfit representing 455,000 dairy farmers) have sent me a poem and a jig-saw puzzle. The puzzle isn't a very good one. The pieces are all the same shape. And when you do get the picture together, it turns out to be a child trying to force its grandfather to drink milk, on the grounds that everyone needs milk. That's not the picture I like. I don't even like pictures of kids teaching their grandmothers to suck eggs. The poem takes up the same theme, that milk is a necessity for all. But it goes one further. It says that for health we should "take nature's way . . . at least three glasses of milk every day." Later on it repeats this nature-boy stuff: "Everybody needs milk. It's Nature's Great Food." Now, milk may possibly be good for most men, or even all men. But it is not their natural food. It is the natural food of the young calf. An ape-man running wild in the jungle does not think of cow's milk. In fact, if it is taste fly country, cows won't live there at all.

In the same way, cats running wild seem to stay in pretty good shape without milk, and the fact that they thrive on milk and enjoy milk doesn't make milk their natural food. By the way, the first thing you'll notice about a cat gone wild is that he very quickly gets much bigger, and maybe smarter. (I don't want to be bigger myself. But high school kids all seem to want to, these days. Maybe they should try running wild in the woods, and get away from the old milk-shakes for a while.)

While on the subject of natural foods, it might be pertinent here to ask if the milk varies when the cow herself isn't eating her natural food in the fields, but is inside a barn most of the time, gobbling up Dr. Smart's Patent Cow Food.

I'm not cranking on the subject of "health" foods and "natural" diet. But certain thoughtful farmers in England are getting some mighty queer results from fooling round with cattle foods . . . and with management of the meadows which grow these foods. Some of them, to prove their point as well as to make a nice profit, have taken to buying up sick cattle, feeding them properly for a few years, and winning prizes with them. One such farmer has even tried in vain to infect his sensibly-fed cows with foot-and-mouth disease. He claims they can't be infected. I don't know if I believe that quite. But it seems reasonable to believe that we may one day get back to more natural methods of managing farms and feeding cattle, and that this could very well improve the health and products of the beasts.

As Our Readers See It

PORTAL OF TOMORROW

As privileged British Columbians we are facing a horizon of promise, following a period of political impermanence, which gave rise to the most fantastic and irresponsible behaviour in the provincial House that has ever been perpetrated in this province.

In session was witnessed such bold, unabashed flouting of parliamentary procedure, as in a common court room, would never have been tolerated. The dignity of parliament was ruthlessly torn aside for the sole purpose of inviting a defeat of "government-in-office"—a defeat unwanted by both the opposition and the people who elected it.

Here we beheld the sorry spectacle of an "elected" premier, begging for his own defeat to serve an ignoble purpose! Yet, what else could be expected of a "Conservative-turned-Socialist" his own instability and lack of conviction threatening, as it did, the vague shaky pattern of what that ubiquitous party hoped to accomplish.

Canadian democracy reigns for "balanced, responsible government." We are at the Portal of Tomorrow.

HOSPITAL LEVY

I would like to point out to Mr. Westell that I do not complain of taxes. What I do most strongly protest against is the glaring injustice of a compulsory levy on single men and women—many of whom are elderly, living on small means—at the rate of $27 per year, while a married couple with perhaps five or more risks are levied at only $7.80 per risk (for only five risks).

BCHIS claims (quite wrongly) to be insurance, but any expert insurance man would tell Mr. Westell that the whole principle of insurance is that the premiums shall be most carefully adjusted to the risks involved. As it is now single folk, men and women, are being levied to pay for another people's children. Why?

Mr. Westell comes up with the old story of a hard-luck case of a very long illness. But he knows perfectly well that the average stay in hospital is only a few days and it is decreasing because of the new techniques in surgery, which get most of the patients on their feet in a few days. This short average should pay for the exceptional long case.

If the majority of people want old age insurance I can pay it too. But I do most strongly object to losing all-life's payments if I should die at 69 or before. And I think Mr. Westell will, too, on careful consideration.

But what is the provision for repayment if one does not attain the required age and why are the thrifty penalized by not getting the pension at 65 (as the loafer certainly will)?

Why did the federal government give thousands of rich men the pension without their having paid a penny piece towards it? Income tax doesn't pay it, for we are henceforth to pay a special levy for it, $30 now and up to $60 next year and after. Whether this levy can be raised and by whom I was unable to ascertain from Ottawa. Just think how BCHIS rates were hoisted!

There should be a referendum on these important issues. Not simply all the members of parliament going into a huddle and then telling us what is good for us.

JOHN KENNY.

'HOLIER THAN THOU'

It is becoming more and more evident that the B.C. Social (should be Sacred) government considers itself above criticism. They apparently want to be a law unto themselves as if super-human and unerring.

It was shown in the recent session by stupid protests, with refusal to answer questions. Now Mr. Gunderson says "education costs should not be a political issue." Sure! Let's let them have everything their own way. They claim a monopoly on religion, also politics and government, just as if Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition didn't exist, or was not worthy.

Speaker Irwin stated "the opposition in Alberta is not looked upon as opposition" and that is the general attitude adopted by the B.C. government also.

All Social candidates boast that a win in B.C. will be a stepping stone to power in Ottawa. The introduction of "funny money" dividends, which could only result in dictatorship with inflation beyond comprehension.

BY FAITH

Mr. Eekman writes as if he has found a reason for existence on earth.

He says in effect "The Divine Doctor (the Lord) admits daily to his hospital (Church) such as require treatment (such as should be saved)."

The treatment is free, but only to those who require it. Therefore "No one can join the church" by himself.

Man, by himself or through any human agency, cannot find God, but it is simple for God to find man, when God's help is necessary.

Until that day arrives, as it always does, man must be content to learn by seeking advice, or from experience. He then lives by faith, if he believes in God.

Who Holds The Power Now?

BY HARRY SCHWARTZ in The New York Times

WHO rules Russia today? The simple truth is that no non-Communist knows with certainty the answer to this seemingly simple question. The highest diplomatic and intelligence officials of the Western world are engaged in an unprecedented guessing contest, trying to put together the scanty available clues in order to come up with the most likely answer.

Theory No. 1 holds that Malenkov has actually succeeded to all or most of Stalin's power.

In support of this thesis, it is pointed out that, so far as is known, Mr. Malenkov is still Premier of Russia and the head of the Communist party's highest policy-making body, the Presidium of the Central Committee. Malenkov, it is argued, took the lead immediately after Stalin's death in laying down the present Soviet "peace offensive" line that has been followed by the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea, as well as by other conciliatory Communist moves.

In this view, Mr. Malenkov has shunned the limelight recently because he prefers to work without publicity.

SMALL GROUP

Theory No. 2 pictures top power in the Soviet Union as now concentrated in a small group of harmoniously co-operating leaders, particularly Messrs. Malenkov, Beria, Molotov and Khrushchev, with Mr. Malenkov merely first among equals.

This theory, it is maintained, is supported by the talk in the Soviet press of "collective leadership," by the concentration of government and party power in the hands of a small group of men, most of whom hold both party and state posts; by the fact that there is now no spotlighting of one man, but indications that several leaders are important.

Theory No. 3 sees supreme Soviet power in the hands of a Communist party faction headed by Mr. Beria, but not including Mr. Malenkov. In this view, either initially or shortly after Stalin's death the Beria faction took over control and made Mr. Malenkov a figurehead.

or at least weakened his position considerably. Unlike the first two hypotheses, this one sees a bitter struggle for power among contending leaders and factions as the primary fact.

To support the rivalry-and-struggle thesis, it is argued that only this can explain the failure to build up one successor to Stalin. Mr. Malenkov's exit as a party secretary, and the purges brought on by the doctors' case, as well as his echo in Georgia.

Mr. Beria's primary position, it is argued, emerges from the fact that he was the only Soviet leader who, as early as Stalin's funeral, appeared as the defender of Soviet citizens' civil rights, a theme that has become major in Soviet propaganda since the repudiation of the doctors' plot, a move publicly credited to Mr. Beria's ministry of internal affairs.

Finally, Theory No. 4 holds that, while there is keen rivalry at the peak of the Kremlin hierarchy, there is no one man or group in clear control, and the situation is in effect a stalemate among the contenders. Only such a stalemate, it is held, can explain the failure to build any one figure up to Stalin's proportion, while the various incidents that have occurred are seen as manoeuvres by one group or another seeking to break the stalemate. Neither Mr. Beria nor Mr. Malenkov can be in control, since, if either were, he would have moved more energetically against his rival.

PRESENT AMBIGUITY

The debates and arguments centering about these theories will undoubtedly continue as long as the present ambiguity of Soviet power remains. Nevertheless, most observers are agreed that the Soviet Union today is ruled by a group of men rather than by any one man as under Stalin. Moreover, it is apparent that Mr. Beria's public prestige and seeming power have mounted enormously.

Finally, there are few participants in this great guessing game who think that all the evidence is in. The most likely expectations would seem to be that there will be new convulsions in the future that will have to be considered.

MBO-JBO

The Times (London)

THE cause of simplified spelling is dearer to some people than it is to others. To its champions it represents a goal—or, preferably, a goal—supremely worth attaining; its opponents regard it as an unwarrantable interference with an ancient if somewhat untidy institution.

Neither faction seems to be aware that a form of spelling simplified almost to the point of inanity is already in compulsory use for an important section of the community. It was originally with the laudable intention of saving time that the General Staff started gutting or truncating the words most likely to be used in messages upon the field of battle; and there was undoubtedly a period when these abbreviations served a useful purpose.

To write "Birhead est but arty and mors causing hy cas" is obviously more expeditious than to write "Bridgehead established but artillery and mortars causing heavy casualties"; and an even greater saving of time is effected if the message, having been written, has to be transmitted by semaphore or by heliograph.

Methods of intercommunication have, however, improved a good deal since abbreviations first came into vogue.

Little reliance is nowadays placed upon the heliograph; the galloper has virtually disappeared; and no one who has marked the air of dignified resignation with which a runner sets out upon his errand can seriously suppose that it makes any real difference how many split seconds have been saved in the writing of the message which he bears.

In practice almost all communication on urgent matters in or anywhere near the front line is nowadays by radio telephone or by telephone, and personnel using either method would incur grave displeasure if their utterance was clogged by such unpronounceable terms as "twd," "bde," "lks," and "conc" (for concentration); for if they were, the messages they were transmitting would not be understood.

He had come a long way in a little while. In those days a young and ambitious man could legitimately expect to have accomplished a good deal by the time he was 25; and, judged by those standards, Macdonald had not done at all badly. . . . Ever Try 'Listenmanship'?

I HAVEN'T yet read "Lifemanship" or "Gamesmanship," but I've heard of them. As I understand it, the books are off-beat humorous approaches to surface problems of life and sport. The man who keeps telling me about them chuckles his way through descriptions of their unconventional attitudes toward boring conventionalism.

Some day I hope to get around to "Lifemanship" and "Gamesmanship," but before I do, and so I won't be accused of plagiarism, violation of copyright or infringement of patent laws, I'd like to take up "Listenmanship." As far as I know, the author of the books hasn't handled that yet. Maybe it's the intolerance of increasing years, but as a person grows older he finds himself forced to listen, for the sake of politeness, to a lot of things he doesn't want to hear and isn't interested in. If he's reasonable, he'll recognize an inclination in himself to want to tell people things they probably aren't interested in. And if he has any respect for conversation at all or any desire to show some competence in it, he'll know that the art of good talk is successful listening.

CONVERSATION STOPPERS

It's easy enough to discourage someone you don't want to hear. Two of my acquaintances are experts at that. You'll be talking to them, you'll notice their minds are wandering, and before you know it, they'll be wandering away too. It's so embarrassing to be running along beside them while you're finishing your remarks that you give up.

But if that procedure is effective in turning off the vocal stream, it's also insulting and offensive.

The man skilled in "Listenmanship" will do better than that. There are lots of techniques. A life insurance friend of mine developed a dandy a few years ago. When you began speaking to him, he'd fix you with penetrating eyes and smile at you with a mouthful of gleaming teeth. He'd keep fixing you with his penetrating eyes and smiling, wide-lipped. You forgot what you wanted to say, and were seized with a desire to take a couple of pencils to use as drumsticks on the xylophone of his dentures.

Before you knew it, there was no conversation at all. He was gazing and grinning at you. You were engrossed in all that ivory and stifling the impulse to tap out a tune on it.

This approach has its limitations. A far better one is that developed from radio listening. With radio, you have perfect "Listenmanship." The sound goes on, you appear to be interested, but you're not listening at all.

LOOK INTERESTED

You can apply that to unwanted conversation. Practice expressions before the mirror a while until you can contort your face into an appearance of receptiveness. It isn't hard. Then work out a series of soothing grunts and appropriate phrases you can use automatically. They have to be non-committal, like "Ungh-hung." "Well, you never know," or "Is that so?" Don't try "Well, yes and no." That can provoke an argument. "Ungh-hung" is best.

Then you can create the impression of listening and let your mind do whatever it wants. There's virtually no waste of time at all. Your body's in front of the conversationist, your face looks as if you're absorbing what he's saying, and the complementary sounds you make convince him you're taking it all in. That's "Listenmanship."

Study up on it. And I'll study up on "Lifemanship" and "Gamesmanship" to see if that's the way it ought to go.

NATO---Plaster in the Cracks

THE right background for the President's press conference on national defense is the story of what really happened at Paris. Judging by the reports now trickling back across the Atlantic, the NATO planning meeting was a fairly ominous rally. Some pretty big cracks had begun to show in the walls of the house of the West. Trouble with the foundation was all too clearly indicated. But repairing foundations is always expensive and bothersome. Everyone wanted to avoid effort and expense. So the assembled statesmen slapped some plaster into the cracks. They muttered a private prayer that the foundations would last for another little while. And they issued a public statement that construction was triumphantly progressing according to plans.

That is about the best figurative summary of what happened. To be more specific, the first offer that Messrs. Dulles, Humphrey, Wilson and Stassen brought to Paris is now known to have spread something very close to consternation among the other NATO allies.

Perhaps the British, the French and the rest have been foolish to suppose that President Eisenhower would wish to complete the great NATO structure that he himself designed, in his former incarnation as General Eisenhower.

At any rate, they were surprised and shocked by the American delegation's original program. It virtually ignored the persistent European and British dollar gap. It almost wholly eliminated most of the supporting types of military aid. And it only provided for a reduced level of direct military aid.

When the British got the news, they named Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, chief planner; Sir Edwin Plowden and a representative of their Chiefs of Staff to tell their story to Messrs. Dulles, Humphrey, Wilson and Stassen. What the British said—and what the French later said—was simple enough.

In effect, they would be forced to renege on their most vital NATO commitments, if the United States reneged on its past policy.

Such a public failure would have been politically embarrassing for everyone, as well as affecting the Kremlin the way bad fish effects an excitable cat. Considering the circumstances, there was a surprising amount of good will around the council table—Chancellor Butler and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, for instance, are said to have formed a close alliance. The threatened crisis was avoided by good will, by ingenuity, and by sacrificing the Eisenhower design for NATO.

Typical of the handling of the dollar gap problem was the solution found for the British. They are to be allowed to earn, or to save, or to receive about 390,000,000 extra dollars by an extraordinary combination of devices, ranging all the way from offshore purchasing to a donation of $100,000,000 worth of land, wheat and other agricultural products.

Even these compromises in effect defeated the American delegation's primary intention, which was to cut aid to Europe sharply enough so that Far Eastern aid could be substantially increased without interfering with a massive net saving. The over-all foreign aid figure will still be high. But the fact remains that the compromises made at Paris made it necessary to toss the Eisenhower design for NATO rather casually into the discard.

In these circumstances, optimism is not justified. And an explanation is perhaps in order of the sudden transformation of Gen. Eisenhower's NATO minimum into a vision, redundant and impractical goal, which President Eisenhower's representatives at Paris failed to denounce.

FROM HOLLYWOOD

By ALINE MOSBY

He Keeps His Feet on the Ground

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Top science fiction writer Ray Bradbury, who spins tales about rocket trips to Mars, turned out today to be a mild-mannered youth who's never been in an airplane and refuses to drive a car.

Bradbury also is one of the originators of the science-fiction craze, and avid readers of tales about other worlds or the future are familiar with his human, believable stories that appear even in high-brow magazines and short story collections.

Now he's writing the first science fiction movie in three dimensions, U-I's "It Came From Outer Space."

But though his yarns deal with characters in space suits flying through atmospheres, voids and meteor showers, he's never been 5,000 feet above Los Angeles.

"I don't think you have to experience something to write about it," insisted the 32-year-old Bradbury who wears a corduroy jacket, horn-rimmed glasses and crew haircut.

"Why should I go up in a plane? I've written stories from a woman's viewpoint, and I think I hit it fairly right."

Bradbury also is anti those science-fiction movies in which the visitors in the flying saucers are usually villains. He approves of "The Day the Earth Stood Still," that featured a robot who was a hero.

But in "The Thing," he complained, the man from another world started out believable but wound up as a monster.

"Actually a citizen from another world would have the same reaction an earthling would have landing on Mars—to get away safely before somebody got panicky and killed him," the author said.

About his car-less life Bradbury says "my wife and I and our two children always take the bus. It's safer."

Barring of Dr. Felton May Foreshadow Stricter Control of Foreign Speakers

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Plans to tighten up on the admission of left-wingers and known Communists into this country are being made by the Canadian government.

In the future Communists or extreme leftists desirous of getting into Canada to make speaking tours or for other reasons, may find the barriers up and a "no admission" sign hanging on them.

Permission has definitely been refused Dr. Monica Felton, British winner of a Stalin peace prize, because an official of the immigration department said: "She simply doesn't meet requirements for entry."

It is possible that under the newly-tightened regulations the Red Dean of Canterbury, who was given such a stormy reception by Canadians during a recent visit, may have made his last visit to this country.

Immigration officials said that everyone seeking to enter Canada must be approved as to character and background, regardless of their racial origin, creed or color. Mrs. Felton, a Communist, was to have made a speaking tour of Canada at the invitation of the Canadian Peace Congress.

Immigration officials said that Dr. Felton is not the first Communist to be refused an entry permit. Among those who have been denied the right to enter Canada are Paul Robeson, the well-known negro singer; Harry Pollitt, U.K. member of Parliament, and John Campbell, a British lecturer.

The government also plans to tighten up on the granting of passports to Canadian Communists who may want to travel behind the Iron Curtain. The Commons committee on external affairs, a government-dominated committee, like all committees of the House, recommended that a careful watch be kept on those who may want to use Canadian passports to travel outside of Canada.

Island Digest

DUNCAN — Duncan Auto Workers' Union has signed an agreement with a garage operator in Lake Cowichan, but the union and seven garage operators in Duncan have not yet reached agreement.

Earlier reports indicated contract terms between the operators and the union, representing 50 of the 75 garage workers involved, had been reached.

DUNCAN — T. D. MacDonald, director of the Combines Investigation Act, has invited the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association to send him further information relative to its charge that a combine exists on Vancouver Island in respect to distribution and sale of fuels, especially coal.

George E. Bonner, Cobble Hill, association president, complained April 20 that there was restraint of trade concerning kerosene, fuel oil, and stove oil, as well as coal.

DUNCAN — Prevost Post No. 10, Native Sons of B.C., will make further representations to the department of education to have Indian children admitted to public schools where Indian parents apply for such admission.

The post held that the right of refusal to admit the children should not be the prerogative of separate school boards, but of the education department.

Two Children Die In N.S. House Fire

GLACE BAY, N.S. (BUP)—Two children died in their beds early Sunday when flames ripped through a frame home here.

Three-year-old Elaine Headley and 18-month-old Carol Ann Headley were the victims of the flash fire. Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Headley were rescued by neighbors Joe Harris and Charlie Shepard who fought their way into the burning home.

Police said the parents were absent at the time of the fire.

LOSES PLACE — WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Canada has edged New Zealand out of second place in the list of countries with most cars per capita, according to statistics published here. The list shows the United States leading with one car per 3.02 of population; Canada 4.5; New Zealand 4.87 and Australia 5.08.

PORT ALBERT — Thor M. Peterson, Social Credit June 9 election candidate, has advocated a Canadian building program whereby a person could purchase a home from $10,000 to $20,000 with a down payment of between $500 and $1,000 and low interest rates over a 30-35 year payment period.

Present home financing puts modern homes beyond the reach of the wage earner, he said.

DUNCAN — Body of Clifford Duncan Fielden, 39, owner of Fielden's Garage, was removed from a log jam in the Chemainus River Saturday. The find was made at a point a short distance below the highway bridge where the dead man's empty truck was discovered April 20, day of his disappearance.

An inquest was scheduled for today, and the funeral will be held Tuesday.

Eden Has 'Restful Night', Is Improved

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden "had a much more restful night," a foreign office bulletin said today.

"His general condition has improved," the bulletin announced.

Eden underwent an operation for removal of gall stones recently. His condition was complicated by jaundice and a second operation for removal of a liver obstruction, was necessary.

4 Killed in Blast At Explosives Plant

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Four workmen were killed Sunday in a powder blast which destroyed two mixing mills at a Du Pont company explosives factory at nearby Moosic.

A Du Pont spokesman said about 600 pounds of black powder went up, ripping apart the two 20-foot-square wooden structures. The blast was felt in a 20-mile radius but did no other damage.

Manitoban Strangles Wolf To Death With Bare Hands

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE

Man. (CP)—A Sandy Bay man had his hand shaken by a female wolf Saturday, but it wasn't a friendly encounter.

Andrew Roulette was trying to remove some wolf cubs from an underground den when his first hand was grabbed by their mother.

Roulette, an experienced hunter, was without a weapon, but wrestled the animal and finally strangled it with his bare hands. He collected the bounty on six wolf cubs and their mother—plus a badly-bitten hand for his trouble.

TRAFFIC DEATH

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Kenneth Lowenberger, 20, of Yorkton, was killed Sunday when the motor car he was driving collided almost head-on with a truck on a highway 11 miles north of here.

Jim Dutchak, a companion, was admitted to Yorkton General Hospital suffering shock and minor bruises. Three persons in the truck escaped serious injury.

Stanley Bembridge of Bredenbury, reported driver of truck, walked to a nearby home, to notify police. Glen Cowan and Ernie Burman, passengers in the truck, escaped with minor injuries that did not require hospital care.

WAR ON COYOTES

EDMONTON (CP)—The coyote population is dwindling in the St. Paul district, about 80 miles northeast of here.

Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, chairman of the central rabies control committee, said Saturday that farmers of the district, some armed with cyanide guns, are doing a remarkable job in the campaign against predatory animals.

Two farmers, Joe Oullette of Oulvey Lake and L. Duet of the St. Paul district, had accounted for 40 coyotes each during the winter.

The campaign against predatory animals was stepped up last summer after an epidemic of rabies broke out in northern Alberta and began moving south.

MAJOR HOUSING PROBLEM

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—The housing situation here will be a great deal worse before it is better, building commissioner E. J. Goos said during the week-end. He based his opinion on consideration of prospects for development of Prince Albert district.

The statement came as the building permit figure for April jumped to more than double the 1952 figure of $164,275. Of 59 building permits issued this April, most covered housing projects with a total value of $389,595.

Commenting on last Friday's report that Prince Albert faces the most critical housing shortage in its history despite a $3,000,000 building program for 1953, the commissioner said the city "will have to definitely make plans for servicing more land."

Otherwise it would find itself "in the same spot that larger western cities are now" in attempting to provide municipal service to new developments.

Saanich Hunts Market For Fruit Now Wasted

Orchard Crops Left to Rot May Be Offered for Local Sale

A movement is afoot to save tons of tree fruits from going to waste in Saanich every year.

WINE, WOMAN AND BOING!

WASHINGTON — The bureau of internal revenue disclosed that some "moonshine" whisky seized in Alabama was made from the following ingredients:

One-half gallon of water, one quart of orange juice, a dash of sugar, two pints of gin, one small jar of sassafras flavor and one-half can of lye.

It sold for $2 a pint.

War in Indo-China Of World Concern Diplomat Says

The war in Indo-China is of vital concern to the whole of southeast Asia, Francois Laboulaye, counsellor at the French Embassy in Ottawa, said here today.

Mr. Laboulaye, who left for Duncan today for a speaking engagement, addressed the Canadian Institute of International Affairs and the Alliance Francaise here Sunday. He is on a speaking tour of western Canada.

The counsellor said the Indo-China front protected Burma, Malaya and Singapore from Communism.

He described the war as the second battle front of the Korean war, and important to the whole world.

Tim Buck Drowned Out By Students' Cheers

TORONTO (BUP) — Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor Progressive Communist Party, was drowned out by students' cheers and songs as he delivered the party's "federal election platform" here.

Buck led 320 party members through driving rain to Queen's Park, home of the Ontario legislature, for an outdoor May Day celebration Saturday.

When he finally could be heard above the uproar, Buck shouted, "We want peace."

"A piece of Canada, a piece of the United States," the students chanted.

Saanich growers, at a meeting held at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton, recently set up a special committee to see if sale outlets could not be found for tree fruits which are left to rot on the ground every year because of the lack of a market.

Saanich growers report that orchards bearing tons of apples, pears and plums "just go to waste" because there isn't any market for them in Victoria. Most fruits sold in the city are either imported or grown on the mainland.

The meeting was attended by J. J. Woods, superintendent of the experimental station, Alan Littler, provincial horticulturist, and several officials from the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association.

It was decided to investigate the possibility of improving the marketing of locally grown fruits.

Nanaimo Man Jailed for Having Gun

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ted Williams, 50, of Nanaimo, Saturday was sentenced to three months in jail for illegal possession of a sub-machine gun found in his car. He was sentenced by Magistrate Oscar Orr in city police court.

Williams, a former army quartermaster-sergeant, was arrested April 24 after he walked into the police station and reported he had found the gun and 350 rounds of ammunition in his downtown hotel room.

Police charged that he brought the gun to Vancouver with him and illegally had it in his possession.

United, Service In Final

Overtime Marks Province Soccer

Both semifinal matches in the Vancouver Island Province Cup soccer competition Saturday and Sunday were extended into overtime as they qualified for the finals.

Civil Service downed Victoria West, 4-1, at Macdonald Park Sunday while Victoria United eliminated Esquimalt 2-1 Saturday.

Service now clash with United at Macdonald Park this Saturday at 2:30 in the Island finals with the winner meeting the Mainland champion.

The Civil Service-West contest was wide open with teams evenly matched throughout regulation time.

West took the lead after 14 minutes of play when Ronnie Woolcock dropped a penalty kick near one post and Ralph Thorne, playing his usual good game, flicked it past goalie Joe Travis who appeared to hesitate on the play.

Civil Service got the equalizer at the 24-minute mark when Bob Allen found the net with a 25-foot drive.

QUICK SCORING

The game took an entirely different light in the first six minutes of overtime as Civil Service broke through for three quick markers.

Jack Thompson took a pass from Bob Clarke and made no mistake from close in at the one minute mark. A minute later Archie McMillan scored from 15 yards out and Allen notched his second counter after six minutes by converting a penalty kick to give Service a 4-1 margin, which they failed to relinquish.

CLOSE THING

Esquimalt came close to upsetting powerful Victoria United before bowing out in overtime Saturday.

Esquimalt took an early lead when Ken Barnes rushed up to net the ball after Charlie Constable had taken it away from goalie Bill McAllister who had fallen while making a save.

United evened the score at the 30-minute mark when Ken Druce fouled Cedric Robb on a breakaway and Denny McGee converted the penalty.

John Pickburn let go a 40-yard drive in the overtime period that found the upper right corner of the net to give United their 2-1 victory.

Phil Potts Wins Cycle Club Race

Junior rider Phillip Potts won the Victoria to Sidney and return massed start, 30-mile race to lead entrants of the Victoria Cycling Club Sunday.

Scotty Chalmers took second, finishing just ahead of Mal Potts, who finished a close third.

The club will hold a special meeting Friday night to discuss plans for the Coronation races May 30 at Beacon Hill Park.

Chinese Take Opener From Esquimalt Nine

The Senior B Softball League got under way amid a flurry of boots and base hits Sunday at Heywood Avenue and when the dust had settled, Chinese Students had scored a comeback 18-11 victory over Esquimalt Athletic Association.

A good-size crowd saw pitchers of both teams get their lumps as the batters teed off in mid-season fashion, hits, walks and errors keeping the bases occupied in practically every inning.

Esquimalt hopped into a 5-1 lead after one inning on two walks, doubles by Jack Lequesne and George Helgeson, Cy Henderson's single and two bobbles by the Student infield.

Students got one back in their half of the first on two errors and Dave Lowe's single.

Matthews Declines Invite

LONDON (AP) — Stanley Matthews, England's most popular soccer star, today refused an invitation to join the English team on its tour of North and South America this month.

Matthews is 38, an advanced age for football players. He received an invitation Saturday before the Football Association Cup final game to relieve a thigh sprain. Since the game Matthews has been feeling the strain considerably.

When selectors named the team for the American tour last month, Matthews was not included. Criticism followed from the general public despite Matthews' age. During the cup final at Wembley Stadium Saturday, his brilliant play as winger had much to do with Blackpool's 4-3 victory over Bolton.

The invitation to join the touring team was issued Sunday.

Matthews quickly declined by saying, "I am very sorry to have to turn down this offer. I would have loved to go, but I don't feel my thigh will be quite right for about a fortnight and it is no use going on such a trip without feeling completely fit."

The team is scheduled to leave Thursday by plane.

Duncan Wins Opener

DUNCAN—Duncan Athletics defeated Nanaimo twice here on Sunday in the opening of the Mid-Island Baseball League, 9-8 and 10-6. Winning pitchers were Lyle Rodger and Tony Folk. Miles and Biggs were charged with the losses.

Students looked sharp in the field, with most of last year's great defensive team returning. The only other new face in the starting line-up, besides Ross, was Barry Jackson in right field.

A surprise starter for the Gasmen was Jimmy Morrison, last year's shortstop. Except for the five errors behind him, Morrison was getting by all though hit hard and often. Students picked up 10 hits, including four triples, from his "flatter" ball offerings.

Navy, a new entry in senior A company, made their debut tonight when they meet the Brentwood Aces. Game time is 6:30 at Central Park.

Students Clip Gasmen In 'A' Softball Opener

Bud Ross Hurls Victory

Chinese Students 6 Pitzer & Nex 2

Chinese Students, rated even money to finish on top of the city Senior A Men's Softball League, got off to a good start Sunday afternoon at Central Park by easing to a 6-2 win over Pitzer & Nex before a good opening day crowd.

Last year the Students went right down to the last pitch before bowing out of the finals, mainly through no depth in the mound corps, but manager Gary Taylor was quick to remedy that void when he signed up Bud Ross from the defunct B.C. Forest Products nine.

Ross proved that in the opener, breezing along with a one-hitter until the seventh inning.

His teammates had built up a 6-0 lead, with the help of some loose fielding by the Gasmen, when he bunched into what could have been trouble.

Charlie Sansbury opened the inning by drawing a walk, and Chick Newman followed with another free pass.

Ab Wiebe hit a scorcher back to mound that Ross stopped with his "meat-hand" and no play was made to leave the bags loaded with no one out.

Les Wilson forced Wiebe at second, Sansbury scoring on the play, and Jimmy Morrison lined to second baseman Eddie Lou for the second out. Toad Garnet ended the threatened rally by lining out to deep right field.

The gasmen had two runners in scoring position in the eighth but Newman struck out for the third out. Their last run, came in the ninth when Wiebe hit a long drive over the centre fielder's head that went for a home run.

BOTTLE SLINGERS WILL HENCEFORTH DESIST

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Baseball fans in St. Louis apparently have had their last fling as bottle tossers at Busch Stadium.

The Browns and Cardinals, in a joint statement Saturday, said all beverages sold at the ball park will be served in paper cups as soon as it is possible to make the change-over.

Myles P. Dyer, St. Louis public safety director, suggested the change following Tuesday night's bottle-throwing episode during the near-riot between the Browns and the New York Yankees.

No one was injured in the 17-minute bottle barrage.

Tyees Sign Pitcher, Lorino May Quit Game

Victoria Tyees have acquired one pitcher but apparently lost another.

Club general manager Reg Patterson announced today that Marion Hill, a right-hander with Salt Lake City of the Pioneer League last season, had been signed as a free agent by team manager Cec Garriott.

Hill won 13 games and lost 15 last year, had an earned run average of 3.66, walked 124, struck out 91 in 204 innings. However, Patterson also revealed that Ben Lorino, recently returned to the Tyees from Sacramento of Coast League, had announced he is quitting the game.

Lorino returned to his California home following his release by Sacramento because of illness to his young daughter.

MONIZ HERE

Outfielder Bob Moniz has reported from Portland and will likely see action against Salem in tonight's game at Athletic Park. Moniz is on a 24-hour recall from the Beavers.

No further word has been received from pitcher Bob Drilling, recently released from Portland, and reported on route from Oklahoma City, where he started this season. He is expected daily.

Colwood Softball

Brentwood will meet Elk Lake at Elk Lake Park in the opening game of the Colwood and District Senior C men's Softball League season Sunday night at 6:45. Twenty-eight teams have entered various divisions of the league this year.

Rev. Bob Richards captured the individual aggregate at the fifth annual running of the Vancouver relays Saturday but failed to pass the 15-foot mark in his specialty—the pole vault.

Richards, rated second to the great Cornelius Wanderdam, reached a height of 14 feet six and three-quarter inches.

Western Washington College of Education's mile relay team tied with Vancouver Olympic Club for team honors at 38 points.

UBC distance medley relay team set a Canadian record by timing in at 10 minutes and 27 seconds, topping the previous record of 10:38.9 set by the North Toronto Track Club in 1949.

Three Victoria juniors and one veteran combined to give Victoria a fourth in the relay team competition. Jim Kennett ran the quarter in 52.4 seconds, Bill Gelling the half mile in 2.3 and nine tenths minutes, Peter Kirchner the three-quarter in 3.21 and nine tenths, and veteran Bill Parnell ran the mile in 4.33 and five tenths, giving the team a total of ten minutes and 51 seconds.

Two former Victoria High School stars turned in a strong showing. Ted Whan ran the one-half mile for Western Washington in one minute and 58 seconds while Don Burgess turned in a time of 3.21 and two tenths in the three-quarter

Tyees Take Pair; Lewiston Stopped

Salem Here Tonight

Victoria 7-10
Tri-City 5-6

Victoria Tyees' pitchers and batters finally got together Sunday and worked out a formula that gave Garriott's Gunners a two-time victory over Tri-City Braves, 7-5 and 10-6.

The Tyees got maximum mileage from their hurling corps, Bill Wisneski picking up the victory, his second of the season, in the first game although he needed help from Mike Williams and Zeb Walker in the last inning.

Bill Bottier went the distance in the second game for his second victory of the season.

The Tyees, who met Salem Senators here in a three-game series starting tonight at 7:30, were thumped good and proper Saturday as Tri-City came from behind for a 16-5 victory.

GARRIOTT HITS

Cec Garriott supplied the bat that went well with Wisneski's arm Sunday, the Tyee skipper rapping out a home run and two doubles in four tries, scoring one run and batting in three.

Lu Brannham had a triple, two stolen bases, one run batted in and scored three.

Tyees outlasted the Braves 12-5. Tri-City threatening mostly as a result of the 11 walks doled out by Wisneski.

Three Tri-City errors told the story in the second game as Tyees picked up only two earned runs out of their total of 10. The Tyees scored six times in the first two innings and four more times in the seventh, Braves nothing one in the third, two in the fifth and three in the seventh.

ABERNATHY AT FIRST

Chuck Abernathy, back on first base after a whirl at the mound, led the Tyees at the plate with three singles in three trips. He batted in three runs. Brannham and Milt Martin continued their recent hitting spurges, each picking up two singles in three trips.

Tri-City pushed across nine runs in the seventh inning on Saturday in the 16-5 debacle after Tyees had built early 3-1 and 5-3 leads.

Zeb Walker, making his first start after a series of successful relief appearances, worked well until he ran into trouble in the fourth, leaving in favor of Mike Williams.

Williams followed Walker to an early shower in the seventh, as did Berlyn Hodges and Abernathy, as the Braves pounded everything the parade of flingers offered.

Martin poled out a long home run in the fifth for the only cheering aspect of the game for the Tyees.

Lewiston Braves, undefeated in their first eight starts, tripped the ninth time out and fell 4-2 before Edmonton Eskimos in the second game of a double-header at Lewiston Sunday night. The Braves won the opener 3-1.

Spokane Indians, meanwhile, made it four straight with a twin killing at Spokane, shading Calgary Stampede 3-1 and 7-6.

In other games Sunday, Vancouver clipped Yakima 9-3 and 6-0; Victoria whipped Tri-City 7-5 and 10-6; and Salem and Wenatchee divided a pair, Salem winning the opener 1-0 and Wenatchee the nightcap 10-6.

COLGATE BOWS TO FLEMING

Champ Beaten In Island Open

Defending champion Ted Colgate fell by the wayside Sunday as the Vancouver Island match play open golf championship moved into the semifinal round.

Former champion Bob Fleming of Gorge Vale eliminated the Colwood shotmaker, ramming home a pair of birdies on the 13th and 14th holes to win, 5 and 4.

Fleming was three up at the turn.

Joining Fleming in the semifinal round to be played next Sunday at Gorge Vale were professional Joe Pryke from Gorge Vale, veteran Bob Morrison from Uplands, and Vic Painter of Colwood.

Painter had the toughest match of the trio, being forced to the 19th hole before eliminating his Colwood clubmate Hugh Morrison.

All square at the turn, Painter went one up at the 12th only to see Morrison square the match at the 15th. Painter regained the lead on the 16th when Morrison found the woods. Morrison won the 17th and dunked a 10-foot putt for a half on the 18th to force the extra hole.

Painter stuck his second shot three feet from the pin on the 19th and calmly dropped the putt for a birdie three.

Bob Morrison made a three-hole lead at the seventh stand him in good stead in defeating Colwood's Bill McColl, 1 up. Reaching the turn 2 up, Morrison held his advantage to the 15th which McColl won. The 16th, 17th and 18th were halved giving Morrison his victory.

Pryke coasted home against Gorge Vale's John Merriman, winning 3 and 2, after establishing a four-hole lead at the end of the first nine.

Boys' School Holds Annual Sports Day

Thirty events were run off Saturday at the annual sports meet of St. Michael's Boys' School, for individual and team trophies.

Guy Walton, scoring 15 out of a possible 18 points, won the Victor Luderum Senior Trophy, while Eric Metcalfe won the Intermediate Trophy; R. Sullivan, the Junior Trophy; and Ola Joergensen, the Midget Trophy. The White House won the relay event, nosing out the Black and Blue House.

Two Victorians Make All-Star Soccer Team

Two Victoria minor soccer players, Peter Winters and George Robbins, were named to the provincial all-star juvenile team at the "Tournament of Champions" in Vancouver over the week-end.

Winters, goalie for first division ANAF Veterans, and Vets left half, Robbins, were selected to the team along with Dave Hutton, Vancouver, right back; Gordon Webb, Vancouver, left back; Bill Degroot, Powell River, right half; Metro Gerela, Powell River, centre half; Bob Allan, Vancouver, outside right; Phil Rosta, Vancouver, inside right; Buddy Smith, Powell River, centre forward; Norman McLeod, Vancouver, inside left; and Ken Ferrier, Vancouver, outside left.

Vancouver Futurity, of the fifth division, won the Rose Cup for the best balanced team in the tournament while Metro Gerela of Powell River All-Stars' sixth division club captured the Vancouver Sun Rose Bowl as the most valuable player to his team.

T. Wyatt of Eagles fifth division squad was named the division's best player in the tournament.

Meanwhile, teams found goal scoring in the Mainland city at a minimum, as they lost all games in the divisional championship.

Of the six local teams competing—Mic Mac's, Eagles (fifth division), ANAF Vets, Delta Electric, Eagles (fourth division), and Tillicums—only one squad, Tillicums, were able to break through the Mainlanders' defense to score.

Tillicums Barry Jenner and George Wright both netted goals as their team lost to Vancouver Haleco, 3-2, in the junior division provincial championship match Sunday.

Womber Nips Gavilan But Gavilan Disagrees

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (CP) — Danny "Bang Bang" Womber, a former sparring partner of Sugar Ray Robinson, pulled the boxing upset of the year Saturday night when he won a unanimous 10-round decision from welterweight champion Kid Gavilan.

Womber weathered Gavilan's brief explosive spurs and won with a swarming attack that prevented the champ from throwing his famed bolo punch.

Both fighters were over the 147-pound welterweight limit. Womber weighed 152½ and Gavilan 151.

"I'd like to fight him for the title," said Womber after the fight.

But Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager, said "we have no idea of fighting him again. Gavilan won the fight. He won six rounds easily."

Gavilan thought he won, too. "Womber is good," he said. "He gives a good show. But I didn't think the decision was fair enough."

"When I consider myself defeated, I'll give a man a chance at the title. When I don't consider a man defeated me, he has no right to it."

Boston New AL Threat

Winning Streak Stopped; Pirates Climb in NL Race

It wasn't so long ago that everybody was feeling sorry for Boston's Red Sox and Pittsburgh's Pirates. These "poor" Pirates were a near-unanimous pick for the cellar while the "raggedy" Red Sox weren't picked much higher. But look at these two clubs today.

Red Sox, with six victories in their last-seven games, are the hottest team in the American League. They won their sixth straight Sunday, walloping St. Louis Browns 14-5 in the opener of their double-header, but were nosed out 6-5 in the nightcap.

Pirates pounded out an 8-2 National League triumph over St. Louis Cardinals to climb within a game of the first division. The Red Sox are in fourth place, hard on the heels of the American League leaders.

The pace-setting New York Yankees rallied for four runs in the ninth to nip Detroit Tigers 6-5. Cleveland's second-place Indians took two from Washington, 7-0 and 4-3, and Philadelphia Athletics moved into third place with a pair of triumphs over Chicago White Sox, 4-2 and 10-6.

Brooklyn registered its sixth straight, edging Milwaukee Braves, 4-3. Philadelphia's Phillies deadlocked the Dodgers for first place in the National League, whipping Chicago Cubs twice, 5-1 and 2-0. The scheduled twin bill at New York between Cincinnati and the Giants was rained out.

It took a three-run eighth-inning rally by the Browns to snap the flaming Red Sox's winning string. Boston blasted out 17 hits to win the opener as rookie centerfielder Tom Umphlett cracked four hits, scored three times and drove in two runs.

Rookie outfielder Frank Thomas walloped his third home run of the season and rapped a double and single to lead the Pirates' attack on three Redbird pitchers as 36-year-old John Lindell won his first game in the National League.

Pinch-hitter Irv Noren's two-run single followed by relief pitcher Art Houtteman's wild pitch clinched the Yanks' winning outburst in the ninth against Detroit.

Dutchmen Protest Use Of Goalie as V's Win

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, seeking their first Allan Cup, Saturday night ran into a familiar and formidable obstacle—Bobbie Gillson.

Gillson, netkeeper of Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A series, was taken on by Penticton V's as a replacement for the injured Ivan McClelland, and his wizardry in the nets gave the western representatives a 2-1 victory, their first in the best-of-seven series. Kitchener leads the finals 2-1.

The Dutchmen now are trying to get rid of this obstacle. Sunday, they filed an official protest with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Club officials contended the Dutchmen should not be forced to play against an OHA goaltender that they twice shifted to the bench.

Gillson was in the nets when the Dutchmen faced the Mercurys in the OHA playoffs. Then he was called in by Sudbury Wolves in the all-Ontario finals and gave the Dutchmen a bad time.

In their protest the Dutchmen charged that the CAHA is not entitled to grant the replacement.

Fight Judge Scored For Cheering Winner

EDMONTON (CP)—The Edmonton boxing and wrestling commission will review tonight the disputed 10-round split decision which Canadian heavyweight Earl Walls of Windsor, Ont., and Edmonton won over Portland's veteran Joe Kahut here Friday night.

Kahut's manager, Tony Carullo, filed an official protest with the commission Saturday against the actions of one of the judges, who he claimed was coaching and cheering Walls while scoring the bout, which attracted 3,500 fans paying $7.00.

It was this judge who saw it eight rounds for Walls, two even and none for Kahut. The other judge scored it 5-4 for Walls and the referee had it a draw at four rounds apiece and two even.

The Portland fighter's handlers want the bout ruled a "no decision" affair by the eight-member commission.

MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE PICTURE STILL CONFUSED

PARIS (CP)—The European Boxing Union has rejected a British plea that the June fight between Charles Humez and Randy Turpin be recognized as a world middleweight championship match.

Despite the EUB's decision, however, J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Boxing Board of Control, said the British attitude would not change. In Britain, he said, the fight will continue to be advertised as a world championship contest and the winner recognized as Sugar Ray Robinson's successor.

Paddy Young and Carl Bobo Olson are the finalists in the U.S. elimination tournament.

Little League Teams Decided by Auction

Little League baseball teams were formed Saturday, team managers selecting their players by auction.

When the bidding had ended and managers had used up the credits (36,000) provided for the purpose of outbidding their rivals for particular players who struck their fancy, remainder of the 168 registered members of the association were distributed evenly to the four clubs.

Each of the four clubs—Oddfellows, Gyros, Kiwanis and Rotary—will hold individual practice sessions until the season's opener May 17. Rosters will then be cut to 15 men. Other players will be optioned to farm clubs with the team manager having the right to recall any player on option at any time.

Hogan Takes Pan-Am

Two Under Par For 72 Holes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Bantam Ben Hogan won the $15,000 Pan-American Open Sunday with a two-under-par 286. It meant $2,600 in prize money for the Palm Springs, Calif., golf star.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Fred Haas of New Orleans tied for second with 289's and split $3,300 or $1,650 each.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., was fourth with 290 for prize money of $1,150.

Hogan entered the fourth and final round four strokes ahead of Douglas and Haas, but for the first time during the tournament, shot over-par golf—a 36-38—74. Par on the 7,400-yard Mexico Golf Club course is 72.

Both Douglas and Haas shot 73's, picking up a point but ending the day exactly as it began—tied for second behind Hogan.

Furgol shot one of the day's best scores—a 33-36—69—to pass Bob Inman of Tulsa, Okla., Art Wal of Honesdale, Pa., Jack Harden of El Paso, Tex., and Gardner Dickinson Jr. of Panama City, Fla., for fourth.

Louise Suggs Golf Winner

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Louise Suggs, posting rounds of 74-75-149, Sunday won the San Francisco lap of the cross-country Weatherlane tournament for women golf professionals. The victory netted her $750.

Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., finished second with 75-76-151 and prize money of $340.

 C (It's out to time)

GOOD SHOW — I'm ashamed to admit it. But Saturday night was the first time I've been out to the Tillicum, Victoria's drive-in theatre.
 Anyway, I can now become my own severest critic. I've been missing a tremendously interesting evening. How stupid can even I get.
 Best thing about the drive-in type of movie: If you are a family man, you haven't any sinner troubles. Just pack the kids in the back seat and that's that. If they're old enough they can watch the movie and if they're not they can fall asleep. Meanwhile, you and the frau can enjoy the show with a mind at rest.

What's better, you can have a smoke when you want one. You can get hot dogs, French fries, hamburgers, drink cokes, coffee or anything else you can buy without disturbing the neighbors in the next car.

If you're young and in love you can take your best girl. Ho, hum. Never saw so many two-headed people.

The management can be congratulated on the surprisingly large and well-run refreshment booth. Got quite a lift out of the mechanized dispensers for coffee, mustard, French fries, and what have you. The boys and girls behind the long counters were adept, courteous and busier than the proverbial one-armed paperhanger with the itch.

Another thing. The pavilion and its offshoots were in immaculate condition. The pictures, by the way, are large and clear, the sound surprisingly good.

It was also of merit to note the speedy way the cars were waved into their respective lanes by attendants with lighted canes.

And when the end came there was no jam or pile-up of cars. We were out on the open highway before we knew it and homeward bound.

Congratulations, Mr. Bill Ward and staff.

Off-Married Band Leader Shaw First Witness Before Hearing

NEW YORK (UP) — The House un-American activities committee called bandleader Artie Shaw as its first witness today in hearings on Communist activities in New York.
 Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.), chairman of the committee, arrived here with his staff Sunday night. Shaw was reported to be flying to New York from Texas, where he has been playing one-night stands with his band.

The off-married Shaw, 43, has been dubbed an "intellectual" among swing musicians. He was the author of a book published last year, "The Trouble with Cinderella," describing the personal problems of fame and fortune. His wives have included actresses Lana Turner and Ava Gardner and novelist Kathleen Winsor.

Miss Winsor, who was married to Shaw from 1946 to 1948, said in a deposition filed during the break-up of their marriage that the bandleader tried to make her a Communist.
 "He insisted that I read books by Lenin and Marx and attempted to prevail upon me to become active in Communist politics," she said. "He urged me to join the Communist party if only to demonstrate my loyalty to him."

Shaw later denied this, along with her assertion that he had told her he was a member of the Communist party.

Anglicans Predominant In Victoria

Victoria has the highest per capita membership in the Church of England of any city in Canada, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report on the 1951 census.

The figures show this is the only city outside Ontario with more Anglicans than members of any other faith.

In 1951 there were 20,273 Anglicans in Victoria out of a total of 51,331 who registered as members of various faiths.

Second largest church group is in the United Church of Canada, with 12,508 members here, followed by 5,352 Presbyterians and 5,088 Catholics.

The census shows members of other faiths as: Baptist, 1,733; Lutheran, 961; Greek, 130; Ukrainian Catholic, 118; Jewish, 97; Mennonites, 14; all others, 4,937.

Albany, capital of the state of New York, was first settled in 1614.

Pipe Puffing Held Safer Than Cig Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cancer specialist says unpublished findings suggest a close relationship between lung cancer and cigarette smoking, but not cigar or pipe smoking.

Dr. Norman Topping, vice-president of the University of Pennsylvania for medical affairs, told a House of Representatives subcommittee that a paper presented last month at the meeting of the American Epidemiological Society said "that there was a definite correlation . . . between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, but there was no correlation between cigar smoking or pipe smoking."

He continued: "The implication there is that it was not the tobacco necessarily which caused the cancer of the lung, but that something in the process or perhaps the peculiarities of the cigarette smoking were correlated with cancer of the lung, rather than tobacco per se.

"Otherwise you would find it in heavy cigar smokers as well, which they did not find."

Dr. Topping added that "this paper has not been published." He did not say who presented the paper or what research preceded it.

Among These Lovely Diners Sits Products Fair Queen

Ten contestants for the queen of beauty title at B.C. Products Fair stopped watching their figures... at a banquet Saturday night. They were guests of Junior Chamber of Commerce, fair sponsors, at Strathcona Hotel. "Even a condemned man has a last splurge," they argued, and tucked into their dinners. Later they appeared on Odeon Theatre stage, and all this week they will appear twice nightly at the fair. On Saturday, winner will be crowned queen, chosen by popular vote.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I am given to understand the B.C. Products Fair is loaded to the eaves with the latest results of inventors' fertile minds.

On display, I am told, will be scores of amazing gadgets calculated to make modern life more worth living.

Therefore, I am going to rush out to the Fair as soon as possible, hoping to see at least a few things which have needed inventing for a good many years.

Such as:

The Ear-Saver Hearing Impediment: A tiny attachment, light in weight, comfortable, with no unsightly batteries, to impede your hearing when you are forced to attend campaign meetings.

The E-Z Parker: A portable parking space; can be folded and stored in automobile trunk for use when needed.

The Unholed Watering Can: A watering can without holes for not watering the garden when you don't feel like watering the garden.

The Remote-Remote Radio Control: An electronic-operated knob which, when turned, shuts off the radio in your neighbor's apartment.

The All-in-One Atomic Can-Opener: Engineered by experts (bachelors) so that, when wife comes home late from a bridge party and starts to open a can of beans, the Atomic Can-Opener (a) gives her a sharp electric shock (b) points toward the stove and (c) plays "Hey, good-lookin', whatcha got cookin'!"

The Ever-Stik Jar Top: A lid which cannot possibly be removed from mayonnaise bottles, for the benefit of those who do not like mayonnaise.

The Eighth Wonder of the World: A catsup bottle from which catsup can be poured.

The Automotive Mind Reader: A signal device for cars which will accurately indicate the course of action of the average driver. (Come to think of it, one has already been invented, but has fallen into disuse. It is the human arm.)

The Boffo Bifocals: A new type of eyeglass. Lenses are specially ground to make everything in Between Times—even cracks about a Little Bit of Old England—seem funny to everybody.

Don't wake me up, let me dream.

INDUSTRY ON REVIEW

Products Fair Opens Tonight

By PETE LOUDON

A preview of the B.C. Products Fair this morning speaks well for the success of the week-long exhibition opening tonight.

Some of the local manufacturer's displays are so complete almost their whole plants have been "transplanted" to the Memorial Arena or the Victoria Curling rink.

For instance, when the doors open at 6 p.m., a machine will start chattering out lengths of nylon hose, right on the premises. Food suppliers will switch on hot plates and start cooking soup and coffee for fairgoers to sample.

Big Prizes for Free Contests

Free loaders and contest fiends will be kept busy with giveaways and guessing games. There is a year's supply of nylons for the person who names a hosiery-maker's new product in a free raffle at another booth. There are free penny banks, can openers at another.

Barkers were muttering practice phrases in the area between the arena and the curling rink early today, as tents mushroomed everywhere. The first odors of hot dog and onions began to circulate and an elaborate network of steel began to take shape in the forms of a ferris wheel, a merry-go-round, a midjet car ride and an airplane ride.

Over the entrance to the largest tent, frightening banners were hung proclaiming the presence of "Poisonous Lizards," "Gila Monsters" and "Jungle Killers." The traditional sawdust trail is flanked by stalls of amusement, balloon peddlers and weight guessers. In the curling rink, power cruisers and small boats got a final polishing, farm machinery was trundled into position and everywhere the pound of hammers and snarl of saws added to the pre-fair din.

No Theft Intended Accused Maintains

Caught in a shop after the crash of breaking glass had brought police, Dennis C. Kilpatrick in city police court today only half admitted his guilt to a charge laid by police.

"I'll admit breaking and entering the place, but not with intent to commit an indictable offense, theft," Kilpatrick told Magistrate H. C. Hall, who took that as a plea of not guilty. Accused was remanded to Friday for trial. The shop, entered early Saturday morning, was the Bazaar, 1317 Broad, owned by George Merrill.

Incorrigible Thief Goes Back to Prison

A Vancouver man who has been obtaining money by false pretenses for many years was sentenced to one year in prison by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Lawrence S. Hood, 45, pleaded guilty to his latest offense, passing a worthless cheque for $75 on the Empress Hotel, when he appeared in court Saturday.

He said Premier Bennett should have acted in a statesmanlike manner, and exhibited more stature, like the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King did when he headed a minority government in the 20's.

The Liberal leader charged there has been no determination on the part of the Social Credit government to put the country's business first.

LOOK CLOSELY

"We must re-establish responsible government in B.C., and place the full responsibility on the elected members to bring together the views of their constituents," he said.

The Liberal Party, he contended, is the only party which can, in a crisis, attract people of integrity and devotion to service.

"This is evidenced by the calibre of the candidates the Liberal Party has in the field," Mr. Laing said. "The voters this time should look closer at all parties' candidates. Look particularly closely at my candidates. I'm proud of them."

He toured logging operations, inspected the ultra-modern Honeymoon Bay mill, and was having supper "with the men" at the Hillcrest mill's canteen.

The day was full of contrasts for the young leader. For example, he was guest at a coffee party given by Ladysmith women Liberals in the morning, and competing with boarding house reaches with hungry loggers later in the day.

He was accompanied by Liberal candidate Andrew Whisker, and other prominent Liberals in the area. Mr. Whisker, who lost his seat in 1952, is attempting a comeback.

BENNETT TARGET

Mr. Laing, addressing a Ladysmith Board of Trade luncheon, chose Premier W. A. C. Bennett as his chief target.

He told the city's businessmen B.C. is facing an election which should never have been called.

"If Premier Bennett had any sense of responsibility he would have compromised his views and aims and carried on government in the province," said Mr. Laing. "This would have given the public an opportunity to adjust itself."

Swinging Sailors Lose Bouts, Pay Fines in Forfeit

Three naval ratings received fines from Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today for assaulting or resisting Victoria police officers in the execution of their duty.

Fined $50 each were Leonard C. Fritzler and Robert Carson, who assaulted Constable Kenneth Wainwright last Wednesday night while he was taking them to the police station for questioning.

Fined $25 was Richard Blackman, who resisted Constable John De Bruyn early this morning when the officer told a group of sailors in an argument to "move on."

In both cases the officers said they had been struck with fists. All three pleaded guilty.

LAING FIRES FIRST SALVO OF CAMPAIGN

Bennett Target Of Liberal Chief

(Special to the Times)

LADYSMITH—After today Liberal Leader Arthur Laing should know the meaning of such logging terminology as cheeseblock, haulback, butt rigging, Molly Hogan, skyline and the like.

The party leader, whose bid to haul the down-trodden Liberals up by their bootstraps, officially started the Liberal campaign today, was spending the entire day in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding where he was the guest of several timber concerns.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing will address a public meeting in the lower hall room of the Crystal Garden Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The new leader has started on his election campaign, which will be the most extensive of any of the four party leaders.

He toured logging operations, inspected the ultra-modern Honeymoon Bay mill, and was having supper "with the men" at the Hillcrest mill's canteen.

Slashing of Victoria's new service-fee schedule for fire-protection sprinkler systems and standpipes will be sought by a businessmen's committee.

Meeting in chamber of commerce boardroom today representatives of 20 affected firms thrashed out all angles with City Engineer Cyril Jones.

H. Barnes (chairman), A. V. Clarke and O. E. Day will draft the committee's brief. This will be submitted for endorsement to another meeting to be arranged.

Bylaw enacted in February imposed bimonthly service charge ranging from $2.20 to $110, required installing of detector check meters at firm's expense. These charges are in addition to any water that may be used to fight a fire. This consumption is billed at special rates starting at 12 cents per 100 cubic feet and scaled downward to 10 cents.

Only one member of the Ash committee, Allan J. McDonnell of Vancouver, objected to ending the government supervised system.

Under this plan, the government would withdraw from actually running the vote, but would still scrutinize it. There would still be a secret ballot, but it would be conducted by the union with a Labor Relations Board representative present. He would scrutinize only.

The government undoubtedly would retain the right to order a new vote if the union operation of the vote was considered unsuitable.

Burrowing Burglars Collect Vault Loot

$450 in Cash, Bonds Stolen In Mill Raid

Patient burglars bored their way into the vault-safe at the Crowe Gonnason mill office at 2324 Government during the week-end and made off with $450 in cash and an undisclosed amount in bonds.

It was the first major city burglary since a series of safe-stealings that ended late in March and netted a gang of alleged experts about $1,500 in cash and bonds. The gang successfully evaded police and suddenly ceased operations.

City detectives Richard Berry and Ray Maitland reported the lumber mill break-in was a "smooth job."

The raiders worked in a spot where they were shielded from the roving eyes of policemen, checking security of premises, and night workmen at the mill.

They went under the building on the west side through a heating pipe vent.

CUT THROUGH BRICK

Using an assortment of tools, they went to work on the three-brick-thick wall and made a hole that measured about 15 1/2 inches wide and seven to eight inches deep. A piece of the floorboard of the vault was sawed partially through and broken off to make the cavity larger.

The vault had to be entered in order to get at the money in a cash register drawer on a shelf three feet from the floor. The bonds were in a metal strongbox.

"Only a thin man or a boy could have squeezed through the hole," commented Det. Berry who tried vainly to get his shoulders through.

LONG JOB

Police said the job would have taken many hours of work in a cramped space.

"We have no way of knowing if this is the same gang that stole the safes," commented Chief of Police John Blackstock.

The gang left behind the tools they used. "Included was wire and soap, which might indicate a nitro-glycerine blast was considered if other methods missed," police said.

Iron bars used for ramming, star drills, an auger and brace and bit and a saw are being checked for fingerprints.

Actors From Across Canada Converge for Victoria Drama Festival

Members of London Little Theatre who will present "Dark of the Moon," a play about witch-folk, humans and black magic in the Smokey Mountains, Friday evening, in the Dominion Drama Festival, no sooner arrived at the Empress Hotel, when they had their heads together over their scripts. Seen here are John Graham who plays Preacher Haggler, Flora MacKenzie (Edna Summey), Neil Carson (Marvin Hudgins), Pauline Struckett who hustles props, and Orlo Miller (Mr. Summey).

Hobnobbing among actors from widely separated points was inevitable as casts converged on the Royal Theatre to sort props, iron costumes, rehearse lines and rig scenery. In dressing room, Peggy Major, left, checks makeup for "Othello," which the Edmonton Studio Theatre will present tonight; Father Vincent Picher, stage managing for St. Joseph's University players, and Paul Blachard, technician, look on as Edmonton wardrobe mistress, Mrs. E. Brandt, exhibits costumes to assistant dresser, Marion Blakey, extreme right.

Hold Blouse Tucked in Skirt

By PENNY SAVER

Hold your skirts, girls! You really don't need to have your blouse slipping up your back or to suffer the annoyance and embarrassment of coming apart at the waist if you get a pair of rubber grippers to pin into the waist band of any skirt at front and back. It is remarkable what a neat job they do and how easy they are to fasten onto a skirt. Can be bought for 79 cents a pair at a local department store. Hold nylon blouses down too, I must add.

More ideas for prevention-of-trouble in the nylon stocking department. Cuddling nylon mesh mitts that are ideal to slip on both while laundering and when putting on hose. For easy handling of stockings there is a division of each mitten which forms an index finger. They come in several colors, including pink, beige, purple and blue, and are priced at $1 a pair. A matching nylon mesh bag for 59 cents will hold soiled stockings and they needn't be removed from the bag for washing.

There are some sets of enameled tea spoons in a jewelry shop that would be a lovely selection for wedding or anniversary gifts. Made in England and encased in a fitted box, one set of the spoons has gilded bowls with the backs enameled in pretty pastel shades while another set has enameled handles. Cost is $19 and $19.75, respectively. The spoons are all sterling silver and each set has six spoons of assorted colors in a case. They are something to be treasured and used with pride for generations.

For anyone giving a children's party there is good news in knowing that for $1.95 it is possible to buy a complete party "kit" for eight children. Found here in "Donald Duck" and "Cowboys and Indians" motifs, each set contains 40 pieces, including invitations, paper hats, place cards, place mats and napkins, candy baskets and a party game. Gives a theme to the celebration and saves mother a lot of shopping. And the youngsters will love them!

Sandpaper Surgery Helps
Scars of Wounds and Acne

Sandpaper surgery is one of the wonders of the age. Today I am reporting to you about the use of this in correcting acne scars.

This technique was first developed some years ago for the benefit of war veterans who had wound tattoos. Many of our young men were subjected to the explosions of land mines and artillery shells. Gunpowder and debris and dirt became imbedded in the skin and left little black dots. This had serious psychological repercussions on the morale of many of these men. Today Korean veterans who have wound tattoos are treated with sandpaper surgery as routine.

As early as 1945 this treatment was used successfully in banishing acne scars. Today it is employed in cases of acne scars, certain types of birthmarks, smallpox scars, and scars from accidents. The details of this surgery would be too lengthy to relate in a column but I can give you the general idea.

One-half to two-thirds of the skin is literally sandpapered off. The lower part of the skin, which contains the sebaceous glands and the hair follicles, is preserved. Thus the skin is able to renew itself. Great improvement is always expectable and often dramatic results are achieved. Women who have suffered for years from acne scars may come out of this operation with a "peaches and cream" complexion.

One thing must be remembered. While the acne is active, sandpaper surgery cannot be considered. All evidence of active infection (acne pustules) must have disappeared. Most surgeons want a quiescent period of from eight to 12 weeks before attempting the operation. In other words, acne should be in the hands of a dermatologist until it is cured and then in the hands of a plastic surgeon. Hospitalization lasts from three to six days, a general anesthetic is used, and it takes about six weeks for the pinkness of the skin to disappear.

I am always happy to tell my readers about a new technique or product which will bring happiness to so many of them.

This series reflects the consensus of opinion of many plastic surgeons. If you are considering plastic surgery it is most essential that you select a highly competent surgeon.

Child 'Hates' Mother:
Who Is to Blame?

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Children act and speak on the spur of the moment. They say what pops into their minds with little or no thought of how it may affect others. The mother of the child who behaves this way should not take offense, as this mother is doing:

(Q.) "My five-year-old daughter embarrasses and hurts me very much. If I reprimand her or tell her to do something she does not like, she will stand there and give me a 'dirty look' or say 'I hate you' or 'I wish you would die.' Will she outgrow this? Should I punish her for it or what?"

(A.) Don't take your child's behavior too seriously and don't get upset when she tells you she hates you or wishes you would die. You can be sure that she doesn't mean it. She is angry because she can't have her own way. She is showing you that she is angry by hurting you the only way she can.

As for her outgrowing this type of resentment, I wouldn't count on it if I were you. Of course your child will learn politeness as she grows older and will watch her words more carefully than she now does. But if you and she are not on friendly terms she will continue to resent you.

Don't punish her when she says unkind things to you or show that you are hurt. This merely gives a child the upper hand. Instead, take a calm unconcerned attitude and merely tell your daughter that she is being very rude, that no one will like her if she talks that way, and that she makes herself very ugly when she gives you a "dirty look."

More important than anything else, try to find out what is back of her resentment. You expect any young child to be annoyed when he cannot do what he wants. But when the resentment is so strong that a child would like, temporarily at least, to get rid of his mother, you have a danger signal.

Are you expecting too much of your child or perhaps wavering in your affections? If so, you are more to blame than she for the way she is behaving toward you.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

VICTORIANS THERE

Hustle of Preparation Has London in Its Throes

BY RITA MYERS

LONDON: This is Coronation year. In the British Isles let no one doubt it for, from the time you set foot in England you are caught up in plans and arrangements, not to mention being faced with clean-ups and decorations that promise to start this country off on the second great Elizabethan era.

It is a speedy transition with the silver-winged North Star transferring you from a dinner engagement in Montreal to another in London, the following evening. Flying at 17,000 feet, not a bump marred the passage and even passing through the British customs was accomplished with speed and courtesy unsurpassed.

As the plane dropped down for its landing at Heathrow, the sight of the Royal Standard flying from the crenellated towers of Windsor and the emerald green lawns and winding river was a thrilling sight. The Queen was in residence and the following day she bestowed knighthood on Britain's modern gladiator Winston Churchill to the delight of the entire country.

In London itself there is the atmosphere of a premiere with decorations in the planning and miles of seating being erected along the royal route. The annex to the Abbey is still under construction, its modern facade contrasting strangely with the Gothic architecture of the 1,000-year-old building. But it costs less to do it this way. Inside the Abbey is a busy place, except for the hours the workmen sat down in protest to a non-payment of requested bonus. But in spite of everything, they will be ready on June 2.

Clean Buildings, Fresh Foods, New Clothes

London has taken on a very different face in her century-old buildings. Many of these have been sand-cleaned and the old landmarks in the city are hardly recognizable in their new dress, with flowers added in colorful window boxes. The Temple, too, has had a clean-up, a really artistic job, with parts of the buildings cleaned, to a soft cream and the walls left in their grey and brown coverings of centuries.

In shopping areas, windows are piled high with fruits from all over the empire, with plentiful displays of fish and meat... only for the latter you still need coupons as you do for fats. But everyone manages well and of eight main meals I have had since my arrival, six have had meat for the main course, and this in a private home. As for clothes... you can buy anything, even nylon, and prices to a Canadian seem most reasonable. Roadways are thick with private cars... England seems to have come back to her prewar standard.

As for entertainment, you have your choice of a wonderful theatrical bill of fare... parties are going full steam, in fact the weekend Times had a list of some 30 private dances arranged for the next few weeks. On top of this will come all the official Coronation entertaining which starts early in May since court mourning concluded last weekend.

There will be scores of Canadians at the first Royal Garden Party on May 28, in fact it will be so jammed that it will be an excellent rehearsal for the marathon to the Abbey on June 2. Agent-General for B.C. and Mrs. W. Q. McAdam have issued invitations for a late day party on May 27 to honor Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace at B.C. House at which there will be a great reunion among the hundreds of people from British Columbia who will be in London.

I met Alderman Percy Scurren of Victoria at B.C. House. He was leaving for Hastings to attend an engineering conference. Press arrangements are interesting. Of the 289 accredited press members, 29 Canadian (five from B.C.) 31 from United States, 90 from the Commonwealth and 93 foreign. All except the Commonwealth countries balloted for seats.

How everybody is going to get in and out of the Abbey is the official headache at present. But, as the British say... "they are coping."

Drama Festival Secretary Has Interest in Many Women's Groups

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

First of many interesting visitors who will be in Victoria during this week of Dominion Drama Festival plays, is Mrs. D. W. McGibbon who arrived by plane from Toronto, Saturday, and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Being secretary of the Dominion Drama Festival is only one of several reasons for her trip across Canada at this time, and only one of several interesting and valuable contributions she makes to the job of being a Canadian citizen, which to svelté blue-eyed Mrs. McGibbon is a 24-hour job, well worth every minute and every ounce of energy she puts into it.

IODE WORK

Both Mrs. McGibbon and her husband, who is treasurer of Imperial Oil, are graduates of Toronto University; she, in modern history and he in political science. As first woman president of the Toronto University Alumni, and also as national film convener for the IODE, Mrs. McGibbon has, so to speak, talked her way across Canada, speaking at banquets, luncheons and meetings of both organizations in various cities en route to Victoria.

Victoria branch of the Alumni Association, University of Toronto, will hold a reception in her honor, Tuesday evening, at the Crystal Garden. On her way home she will attend the annual meeting of National Chapter, IODE, at Edmonton and will speak at the University of Alberta.

It would be difficult to say which of her many activities she finds most satisfying, but she is enthusiastic about the significant job being done by "Canadian Scene," of which she is director. "We reach new Canadians through their own language newspaper," she tells us. "We bring them comments on the

Hand Weavers Hear Address

Miss Florence Daniels, a widely experienced teacher of hand weaving, gave an interesting talk recently, at a meeting of Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild. She told of commencing her career in the wild mountain country of the southern United States, traveling by horse or mule back to sparsely populated areas. She exhibited soft-toned vegetable-dyed blankets and coverlets done by these people.

Later Miss Daniels taught at Berea College, Kentucky, and in Chicago at the famous Jane Addams Hull House settlement. She also told of teaching at the Dwight Women's Reform State prison and showed samples of work done there.

While in Chicago, Miss Daniels had stayed with a Greek family. Amongst the pieces she displayed, besides work done by settlement pupils, was some lovely old Greek weaving given her by this family.

Festival; well, she has been secretary of that through five festivals. Asked if her interest in the festival came from personal dramatic experience, she crinkled her eyes humorously.

"I once had a walk-on part in 'Lady Windermere's Fan' at the university," she admits. And adds: "After singing one year in musical comedy while attending Victoria College at Toronto, I graduated—to the make-up room!"

Art and music have a place in Mrs. McGibbon's busy life too. She is a member of the executive of the Women's Musical Club in Toronto, and she and her husband are the possessors of a small but fine collection of Canadian art. She admits regretfully that they have not yet obtained an Emily Carr, but she is looking forward to seeing the collection in the Vancouver Art Gallery before returning east.

A footnote to the career to date, of this vital, versatile and public-spirited Canadian, is the fact that she, with B.C.'s Tilly Rolston, was runner-up to Charlotte Whitton for the title of Canada's woman of the year.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Poor Circulation May Cause Leg Pains

A common cause of pain in the legs is the result of foot trouble, particularly flat feet. When the arches have collapsed and are flat, new strains appear. These strains are sometimes also they act on the muscles or joints of the legs and cause pain in these areas more than in the feet themselves.

Incidentally, flat feet can cause backache, fatigue and several other things which too often go unrecognized.

Pain of such origin should, of course, be treated by correcting the foot trouble. This involves more than just wearing a pad or support. Instruction in standing and walking is important; special exercises, contrast foot baths and other measures are usually needed in addition to proper shoeing.

Another type of pain in the legs is one which comes on in times after walking a few blocks rapidly or climbing stairs. This condition goes under the name of intermittent claudication. It is caused by insufficient supply of blood to the muscles because of hardening of the arteries in the legs.

During rest the circulation is adequate, but exercise increases the need for blood. This condition always requires the advice of a doctor, because it may be a sign of hardening of the arteries elsewhere as well. A person with this kind of pain should avoid taking so much exercise that it brings on the pain.

A lot of people complain of pains in the legs which occur at night only and which may even wake them up from a sound sleep. This is a rather puzzling condition but it is probably connected somehow with the circulation of the blood in the legs.

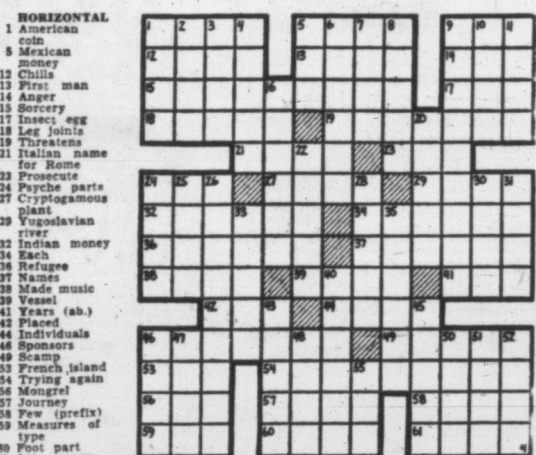

People with this symptom often say that if they get up and walk around for a short time the pain or cramp will disappear. In others walking around does not relieve the pain and other measures have to be tried.

Neuritis or sciatica can also cause leg pains. Other diseases of circulation, such as Buerger's disease, are possibilities. Tumors of a bone or joint, arthritis and some other rare conditions have to be considered in people who have leg pains, the cause of which cannot be readily identified.

Korean Children May Come to America

'Sir Winston'

Revised by Special Request

In every age, some man does fulfill,
A similar destiny, as Sir Winston Churchill.

A man who arises, when the world's going to blazes,
And saves Christianity, with a few deathless phrases.

Who stands resolute, everywhere his voice reaches,
"We'll fight on the beaches," we'll fight on the beaches."

A man without fear on Dover's seawall,
Mocking the Devil—"that pompous Jackall."

And to another serpent, who would devour,
"This Shall Be, Our Finest Hour."

Yes—Sir Winston Churchill, the very backbone,
When all England had... was his microphone.

And the rest of us did, somehow try,
To exist and hope, till his next battle-cry:

As long as men live, they'll never forget,
"All I Can Offer Is Blood, Tears and Sweat."

That was enough, if that's all he had,
'Twas the start of the triumph of good over bad:

All the world knew as he started to scour,
The—mainspring he was of, "This Finest Hour."

It even could be, as he flung his first blow,
He was sent to this world, like those long ago:

One who believed, understood and stout-hearted,
To lead the world's children, as the Red Sea had parted.

Miracles happened, we seemed to be guided,
In the midst of storms, great seas subsided:

Hi—h above, other Englishmen flew,
"Never so much, was owed to so few."

The Red Sea closed, we were out of the mire,
The Devils consumed, in their very own fire.

Time has flown since those fateful days,
Except for Korea, we glimpse the sun's rays:

And all are thrilled, great honor has come,
To England's leader and favorite son;

The ribbon is blue... the sword a gold sheen,
"I DUB THEE... SIR WINSTON—ARISE," sed his Queen.

NANAIMO MAN ESCAPES DEATH IN EXPLOSION

NANAIMO—Clarence Cardinal, owner of the fishboat Ophelia, narrowly escaped death Sunday night when the gas tank of his craft exploded.

Police said the vessel was moored at Crain's Anchorage, but was beached on Newcastle Island, just inside the harbor mouth, to prevent flames from spreading to other vessels.

Cardinal leaped into the water and swam clear of the blazing boat, police said.

Old Conway Graduates May Form Branch Here

Formation of a Vancouver Island branch of the Conway Old Boys' Association was discussed at a dinner at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Saturday night.

Nearly 30 former cadets of the Royal Navy training ship, HMS Conway, attended the meeting. Lieut.-Cmdr. I. B. B. Morrow, RCN, was chairman, and the oldest former cadet present was Capt. F. Bayles, who trained in the ship from 1887 to 1889.

WEATHER'S BLESSING

In the bright sunshine, the pipe band of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) captured the imagination of the crowd.

Pint-sized, but equally smart, cadets also marched past the reviewing stand and were inspected by the general. They were members of the 75th Scottish and 5 Area Signals junior units.

Regiments taking part were the 5th (B.C.) Coast Regiment, RCA; the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's), 75th HAA, 8th AAOR, 5th Area Signal Squadron, Royal Canadian Signals and the 40th Technical Squadron, RCME; 13th Field Ambulance, RCAMC, and 46th Field Hygiene Section, RCAMC.

The 75th HAA and the Canadian Scottish pipe and brass bands played for the parade.

MEGILL ATTENDS

Maj.-Gen. Volkes was accompanied on inspection by Brig. William McGill, DSO, CD, commander of B.C. area, and staff officers of Western Command.

Lieut.-Col. George F. Paulin, ED, commanding officer of the 5th (B.C.) Coast Regiment, RCA, was parade commander. Capt. Harry Gwilliam of the 75th was parade adjutant.

Parade RSM was RSM William Waldron of the Scottish.

No Summer Session Planned for Commons

By VICTOR MACKIE Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA.—There is to be no summer session of parliament after the Coronation.

Members of parliament received that good news from Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent as they plowed through the heavy business still to be dealt with before the present session prorogues.

The prime minister said the government had no thought of calling a further session after the Coronation June 2.

And with the present session moving along at a fast pace

There are indications it may wind up its work on the weekend of May 9 or within 10 days. Prime Minister St. Laurent has said he was prepared to see the 700-clause bill to revise the Criminal Code left for another session. That would be a session of a new parliament as there is to be an election before the next session. Most members appeared still agreed that the election would come some time in August.

and if you want curls

IF your hair is not naturally curly... if you want hair that holds a curl, even in rainy weather... let me whisper something in your pink, shell-like ear. At night, when you go through the ritual of subdividing your hair into little sections, here's what you do. Rub a little Lanolin into the hair. Put a little on the scalp and a little on the hair surface. Then roll your hair up the way you usually do... using bobby pins, curlers, string, old typewriter ribbons, rubber bands or whatever appeals to you most. Then just before you crawl into bed, moisten the hair around each curler. It will dry into curls while you are asleep. In the morning, merely remove the hardware from your head, exercise the scalp and gently brush your hair. You've got a glorious surprise in store for you. Curls and waves that fall naturally into place, such as you've never dreamed possible. Your hair will be shiny with radiant highlights which will invite admiration and praise, ah... even romance.

Get NIL-O-NAL... only $1.79 for 2 ounce, $3.00 for 4 ounce... obtain the results promised in the first 30 days or return for full refund. We know what NIL-O-NAL can do for your hair. Attending the sixteenth biennial meeting of the Edward H. Angle Society of Orthodontia are 80 members from Canadian and United States points in the East, Midwest and Pacific Coast areas.

The society was formed in 1930, and named in honor of the late Dr. Angle, a pioneer in modern methods of correcting irregular teeth.

Word was received here today of the death Sunday in London, Eng., of Wing Cmdr. William Weir Campbell, OBE, DFC, RAF (retired).

Born 41 years ago in Revelstoke, son of the late Maj. P. J. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, he was educated at Esquimalt schools and the University of British Columbia and joined the RAF in 1936.

He served as a pilot in the Second World War.

Surviving are his wife, Bunty, in London; his mother, at 5038 Wesley Road, Royal Oak, and two brothers, Ian H. Campbell of Victoria and David in Ottawa.

Wins Reduction in Burglary Sentence

Edward J. Sanford, 44-year-old logger from Vernon, was successful in B.C. Court of Appeal today in arguing for a reduction in sentence on a breaking and entering conviction.

The court allowed his in-person appeal by reducing the seven-year sentence imposed on him in lower court to four years. The court observed Sanford had a record of 19 previous convictions, including one for motor manslaughter.

His record went back to 1926. From 1941 to 1948, however, the record was clear.

Born in Liverpool, the well-known life insurance salesman is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. D. B. Payne, Halifax, and two sisters.

Funeral will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Royal Oak.

She's Got a Fur Coat

The penguin at right seems to be the topic of jealous conversation for her more formally-clad companions at London's zoo. (The very idea. Wearing a fur coat and putting on airs!) Actually, the furry bird isn't being high-hat. All young penguins are covered with down before acquiring their soup-n-fish suits of feathers.

OATIS NOT NAMED IN NEW AMNESTY DECREE OF CZECHS

VIENNA (AP)—A second Communist satellite—Czechoslovakia—proclaimed an amnesty in the Soviet pattern today for lesser offenders, both civilian and military.

Radio Prague said the clemency decree, signed by President Antonin Zapotocky, went into effect today.

The broadcast made no mention of AP correspondent William N. Oatis arrested two years ago in Prague on charges of spying and now serving a 10-year jail sentence.

It seemed unlikely that Oatis would benefit from the decree. The Czech amnesty like those proclaimed for the Soviet Union and for Communist Romania specifically excluded all persons convicted of treason espionage or sabotage.

Noted Newsman's Mother, Mrs. Edith Inglis Passes

Mrs. Edith M. Inglis, a member of the B.C. Legislature's pension staff and mother of the noted Canadian newspaperman Peter Inglis, died in hospital here Sunday.

Mrs. Inglis had been in hospital six weeks. She was taken ill a few days before the close of the last Legislature.

Mrs. Inglis was born in England. She was the widow of Thomas B. Inglis, a former city editor of the Victoria Daily Times.

Mr. Inglis was killed in the Battle of Cambrai in 1918 while serving as a captain of the Canadian infantry.

Mrs. Inglis and her son lived in England and France until 1933 when they returned to Victoria.

During the Second World War, Mrs. Inglis was in charge of Balmoral House, which was used by the federal government to provide temporary accommodation for families moving to the coast and unable to find their own housing.

In 1950, Mrs. Inglis joined the seasonal staff at the Parliament Buildings, working in the office of the Speaker, Mrs. Nancy Hodges.

Mrs. Inglis was a prominent member of L'Alliance Francaise. She made her home at 1067 Oliver Street.

Peter Inglis, her only son, is an editorial writer with the Hamilton Spectator. He won distinction as an international affairs reporter for the Southern newspaper chain.

Funeral services for Mr. Inglis will be announced later by Hayward's.

Mayoral Chat Inaugurates Phone Service

A brief, informal conversation between Mayor Charles Harrison and Mayor Ivor Smith of Port Angeles today opened the first international radio-telephone circuit to operate out of Vancouver Island.

Speaking from a luncheon at the Empress Hotel at 2 p.m., Mayor Harrison extended his city's greetings to Port Angeles. His voice was carried through the air, beamed from antennae recently installed on the Bank of Toronto Building.

The radio telephone circuit was installed by the B.C. Telephone Co. and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., to replace the present submarine cable, which has proved unsatisfactory to maintain because of deep water and strong tides.

Telephone officials expressed the hope that much improved service will result from the new system.

ADVANTAGES SHOWN

B. R. Tupper, manager and chief engineer of the North-West Telephone Co., explained the history of radio-telephone operation on Vancouver Island and pointed out the advantages of the new system.

Also speaking to their "opposite numbers" in Port Angeles were: George Warren, commissioner of the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau; George H. Wheaton, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; Seth Halton, publisher of The Colonist; Lex Fox, managing editor of The Times, and J. H. Halford, division commercial manager of the B.C. Telephone Co.

Peard Sutherland was chairman of the luncheon program.

U.S. POET CHARGED WITH 'MURDER'

Coronation Ode Draws Ire Of British Broadcaster

LONDON (BUP)—An American poet was indicted over the coals today for "murdering the Queen's English" and trying to "invade a peculiarly British reserve" by composing an ode in honor of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

The criticism was leveled by Gilbert Harding, a British broadcasting man, against the poet he identified as Palmer H. Hjelte of Minnesota.

"No one welcomes more heartily than I the Americans who are due in this country for the Coronation," Harding wrote in the Sunday newspaper, The People. "But I view with alarm the attempt of one American to invade a peculiarly British reserve."

Harding, staunch monarchist, said Hjelte composed an ode to celebrate the Coronation "which he is offering for publication in British newspapers—for payment of course."

"I would have thought that writing verse to celebrate the Coronation was a job for Her Majesty's subjects only. But I am prepared to sink this prejudice if an American, or anyone else can produce lines to fire the imagination," Harding said.

MURDER

"Mr. Hjelte has been guilty, however, of multiple murder of the Queen's English," Harding continued. "Take this sentence, for example, from the letter he addresses to prospective buyers

Iran Minister Seeks Safety After Slaying

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Former Iranian interior minister Fazlollah Zahedi took sanctuary today in the Majlis (parliament) building after the government had ordered him to report to police for questioning in connection with the murder of Tehran's police chief.

He said he is in danger. Zahedi, a former senator, once previously was accused of plotting against Premier Mohammad Mossadegh, but those charges never were pressed.

His brother, an army brigadier, is among a number of high army and political officials accused of plotting the kidnapping and murder of Police Chief Mahmoud Afsharsoos.

Yank-Brown Riot Pays Off at Gate

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A rush on tickets for the next series between the battling New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns at Busch Stadium has been reported by the Browns.

The demand cropped up after the two teams joined in a near free-for-all riot in their game here Tuesday night.

Bob Fishel, director of public relations, said mail orders have poured in "by the hundreds" for tickets for the four-game series beginning June 5.

Five of them have already found jobs here. They have also joined the Toronto Argonaut Rowing Club.

Miss A. N. Anderson, Poet, Teacher Passes

A retired school teacher and poet of some note, Miss Agnes Nicholson Anderson, 70, died Saturday at Colwood.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3.15 p.m. at McCall's, and interment will be at Rose Bay.

Born in Scotland, Miss Anderson came to Victoria as an infant. She lived in the Esquimalt district, and taught at Victoria West School for many years.

The intimate biography of Queen Elizabeth, written by her good friend and former governess Marion Crawford, appears exclusively in the Victoria Daily Times in 28 chapters, beginning today. Out of her 17 years of close association with the royal family "Crawfie" has previously published "The Little Princesses" and "Mother and Queen: The Story of Queen Mary."

MY STORY starts on the evening of Nov. 14, 1948, a Sunday. My husband, whose name is George, and I were awaiting an important announcement while listening to the radio at our home in Nottingham Cottage, Kensington.

Suddenly the telephone rang. Before I picked up the receiver, I had an idea what the news would be. I told George to turn down the music on the radio.

Mr. Baker, the Buckingham Palace telephone operator, was on the line and in a clear, cultured voice, he said: "Madam, Sir Dermot Kavanagh would like to speak to you."

A moment later I heard the voice of Sir Dermot, who is the Royal Equerry, in charge of all the Royal horses and motor cars. Unlike Mr. Baker, he did not speak in an evenly modulated voice. He was exuberant:

"Crawfie, I wanted you to be the first outside the palace to know. It's a boy!"

This was about 20 minutes past nine. Soon a bulletin would be winging around the world, but for the moment George and I shared the privilege of being among the first to know.

"You're relieved?" my husband asked. He was always quick to sense my mood.

"Don't be absurd," I said. "I always knew that Princess Elizabeth would do everything perfectly. I have never known her to fail at anything important."

ELIZABETH the Queen

Former Governess to Her Majesty

I think I spoke with authority. For some 17 years I had been governess to the two little princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. I have a box full of remembrances—letters, Christmas cards, little keepsakes of all kinds. Princess Elizabeth called it my "treasure chest."

I cannot think of any more apt description for what it now contains.

It moved with me from 145 Piccadilly on that fateful day when the two little princesses and I followed in the wake of the Crystal Coach which was taking the King and Queen to their new home in Buckingham Palace.

There my box stood on the window sill of my room, in plain view, outlined against the net curtain, of passers-by on Constitutional Hill.

And finally the box moved with me from my little Grace and Favour house in Kensington Palace, granted to me for life by His Majesty King George VI when I married and retired from the Royal Service, to this calm house where I now live and find some of the tranquillity denied me in the turmoil of Royal life in London.

This box, now at the end of its journey, tells me what

I told George: Queen Elizabeth will never fail at anything important.

Just as I was one of the first to hear the actual news of the birth of Prince Charles, I was among the first to know months before that a Royal baby was on its way.

One afternoon I was sitting down to tea in my rooms in Buckingham Palace when there came a gentle knock at the door and Princess Elizabeth put her head in.

Princess Elizabeth's visits were seldom a surprise to me. Long before her knock came at the door, I would hear her familiar footsteps outside.

In my many years at the Palace I had become an experienced mood-gauger. Usually a certain un-Royal thump-thump of feet down the passage would warn me that the Princess had some good news to pass on. For example, my door would burst open and a very flushed and excited Princess would sweep in.

"Oh, Crawfie," she would say. "Guess what?" Papa's horse won again today. Or a similar bit of news.

But this day, despite her quietness, I knew that she had bigger news than horse racing. While I waited for it I invited her to have some tea.

"No, thank you, Crawfie," she said in the odd little voice that meant she was nervous or excited.

She crossed the room quietly and gazed out of the window. There was something about her stillness which spoke more than words. I looked thoughtfully at her back.

"I've just come to tell you something, Crawfie," she said after a pause.

She chose her words carefully, still not looking at me. "I'm having the old pram brought out."

I went to her side quickly and put my arms around her. "I'm so happy for you, darling," I said. Then we kissed and wept a little. It seemed hard for me to believe what she was telling me.

The birth of a Royal baby, especially when he is in direct line to the Throne, is an affair of state; but, of course, it is also very much of a private affair. When the child is "expected," the waiting world must be told.

From that moment, months before the birth, the baby is news, and he will be news all his life. The fierce light of publicity will be a burden hard to bear, as no one knows better than his mother, who must share her own joy with all the world.

For Princess Elizabeth there was only a little time—a few precious weeks—when she could nurse and enjoy her secret. We who were close to her knew, of course, before the first speculative hints appeared in the newspapers.

Laugh, It's in the Script

Don McManus, "Corvino," in production of Ben Jonson's "Volpone," to be presented by Players' Club Alumni of UBC at Saturday matinee of Dominion Drama Festival, being held at Royal Theatre all this week, tries out one of broad comedy lines from play, while Peter Manning, who co-directs with Philip Keatley, gives lines and gesture

close attention. Rehearsals, discussions were taking place in all parts of Empress Hotel today as casts lost no time in winding up for an all-out bid for the Calvert Trophy and $1,000 cash award announcement of which will crown festival week, Saturday night. Altogether 10 awards will be made following final adjudication. (Times Photo.)

DON'T BE LATE OR YOU'LL HAVE TO WAIT

Feverish Activities Mark Opening of Drama Festival

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Casts and directors from all across Canada were gathered at the Empress Hotel over the weekend, as preparations for launching of the Dominion Drama Festival at the Royal Theatre tonight reached a climax.

Of the eight groups which will stage plays during this week, four had registered Sunday night. The rest arrived today. Rehearsals began immediately and hard-working stage crews and wardrobe mistresses converged on the theatre.

(Other pictures, stories on drama festival Pages 3 and 13.)

The interim was filled Sunday night with a reception in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel, when Donald Cromie, president of the national executive, and members of the executive committee entertained incoming casts and members of the local committee and board of governors.

Edmonton Studio Theatre's production of "Othello" will open the festival tonight. The parts of Othello, the Moor, and his lovely Venetian wife, Desdemona, are being played by a real life couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hood.

MRS. HAYNES DIRECTS
Othello, who is lured into the murder of his devoted wife in a passion of jealousy roused by the planting of false compromising evidence in the form of a handkerchief, is considered one of Shakespeare's most poignant and noble characters. Iago, the trusted officer whose own jealousy prompts his cruel deception, is probably one of the most enviable parts to be assigned to any actor.

The play is directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, who has an international reputation in the theatre.

Approximately 300 visitors are in town for the festival and theatre conference which takes place at the Empress, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings and afternoons. Thursday afternoon will see a performance of the unique Indian music-drama, "Tziniquav," staged at the York Theatre for the benefit of conference visitors.

The curtain goes up at 8.15 tonight—and don't be late, for rules of the festival say that if you are, you will have to wait for a suitable interval before being shown to your seat.

Special Study Plan For Criminal Code

OTTAWA (UP)—The Commons committee on criminal code revisions today presented its final report to the House, recommending special study of the nation's laws dealing with capital punishment, insanity and lotteries.

The committee's report, presented by chairman Don Brown (L., Essex West) called for the establishment of a royal commission or a joint parliamentary committee.

Mau Mau Murder 19

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—Some 300 Mau Mau terrorists attached a remote Kikuyu home guard outpost today and burned and hacked to death 19 members of the pro-British unit. Only one member of the post escaped to tell the story.

JET AIRLINER CRASH CAUSE UNEXPLAINED

43 Killed When Comet Goes Down

CALCUTTA (CP)—One of Britain's famed new Comet jet passenger planes crashed in a heavy storm near here Saturday and airline officials said all 43 persons aboard were killed.

It was the first disaster in the brief history of commercial jet air travel and the first fatal crash of a Comet carrying a payload.

The four-jet airliner operated by the British Overseas Airways Corporation crashed only a few minutes after it took off from Dum Dum airport here for New Delhi.

It was on a flight from Singapore to London. Radio contact with the plane stopped six minutes after it took off in a heavy rain.

A ground rescue party reached the wreckage Sunday afternoon and reported none of the 37 passengers and crew of six had survived the crash, which occurred 22 miles northwest of Calcutta in barren country. Preliminary reports said the crash may have been caused by a fire or explosion shortly after take-off.

TWO CHILDREN DIE

The victims included 11 women, one of them the stewardess, and two children.

The crash came on the first anniversary of Britain's profitable and dramatic 500-mile-an-hour jet travel service. The Singapore-London schedule had been opened only recently.

BOAC's eight Comets have carried 27,700 paying passengers to many corners of the world in the past 12 months without a single death or injury.

A Canadian Pacific Airlines Comet crashed at Karachi, Pakistan, last March, killing all 11 persons aboard. The plane was being delivered for the start of a CPA schedule across the Pacific. Another comet—this one carrying paying passengers—crashed on takeoff at Rome on its way to South Africa last October but no one was hurt.

Villagers who saw Saturday's crash said the plane was aflame as it streaked earthward. Both wings were torn off.

Villagers said they heard people crying from the plane's fuselage but would be rescuers were forced back by explosions. Many of the passengers had been on their way to London for the Coronation. Thirty-five of the dead were Britons. Three were Americans.

The dead included: Edgar W. Bateman, senior scientific officer at the supply ministry experimental station near Salisbury, England.

Rev. Paul Sneed, Methodist missionary in Malaya, returning to his home and family at Nyack, N.Y., on leave.

Frederick Mitchell, 55, of Southgate, England, home director of the China Inland Mission.

Miss Jean S. Cohen and Miss Anita Whistler, Americans on a round-the-world tour.

Canadians Smash Chinese Assault

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED NEAR JOHN HART DAM

A truck driver died at Campbell River today when his truck went out of control near the John Hart Development power house and turned over.

His name was withheld by RCMP pending notification of next of kin in eastern Canada. Owner of the truck is Frank Barnard, Campbell River.

Dr. N. Bathurst Hall, Campbell River coroner, was called away from an inquest into the May 1 death of Oliver Jones to attend the highway fatality.

Verdict of accidental death was returned in the case of Jones, 32-year-old head loader for Salmon River Logging Co., who fell 20 feet from a boom to land on a load of logs.

Five Lose Lives in B.C. Accidents

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A Vancouver man was killed and three other persons injured in a two-car crash near the international border Sunday.

Dead is James Campbell, 23. A Manitoba woman, Mrs. Elsie Vidal, of Stonewall, was reported in "satisfactory" condition in hospital today.

Norman Dupuis, 23, Vancouver, suffered serious head, chest and internal injuries. William Beecham of White Rock, B.C., was in "good" condition and Mrs. Beecham was "fair."

In Vancouver two violent deaths were reported. William Clarence Gushue, 40, was killed when the gun he was cleaning accidentally discharged.

Mrs. Mary Carmichael, 83, was asphyxiated when her apartment became filled with domestic gas. Police said a chair had been tipped back against the stove and had opened a jet.

In the Cranbrook area two small children died in separate drowning accidents.

Carol Fenwick, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fenwick of Yakk, fell into the Moyier River, which runs behind her parents' home. Marilyn Lum, 18 months, tumbled into Josephs Creek, near Mt. Baker School, and failed to respond to inhalator treatment.

Buenos Aires Arrests

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Police arrested 29 members of the opposition Radical, Socialist and Communist parties Sunday on charges of rumor peddling and distributing literature against President Juan D. Peron.

30,000 Reds Spread Over Tiny Laos

French Desperately Marshal Defenders

VIENTIANE, Indo-China (Reuters)—Thirty thousand Communist-led Vietnamese troops who have marched into the tiny kingdom of Laos today spread over half the country like an enormous crab—with claws poised ready to strike in four directions.

French defenders, desperately marshalling their forces, tried to guess which claw will reach out first.

Most likely point of attack is the ancient Laotian capital of Luang Prabang. Then battalions of Vietnamese troops are believed to be within 12 miles of the city.

Another claw of the Communist crab is moving southwest towards the new Laotian capital of Vientiane.

A third finger goes southeast towards Pakxane, important French outpost of the Mekong River where it turns south to Cambodia.

The fourth stretches north to captured Sam Neua to protect Vietnamese supply lines from the Tonkin border.

Although the immediate danger is a Communist push against Luang Prabang, many French officers feel that, with the rainy season coming, the point of attack may change to Vientiane and Pakxane.

French military policy in Laos is under fire here from a number of foreign military observers who are critical of the French decision to dig in and wait for the Communists attack.

One said: "The French must realize you cannot win a battle without going out to fight."

Britons Happy With Pictures Of Slim Queen

(From UP and AP Dispatches)

LONDON—The Royal standard unfurled over Buckingham Palace today to mark the return of the Queen to London. The Royal family has spent the past six weeks at Windsor Castle.

As Elizabeth received debutantes today in the first presentation party of the year, Britons were delighted with the latest pictures of the Queen, published in the Sunday Pictorial.

The Pictorial said the 27-year-old Elizabeth, mother of two children, has a 24-inch waist, compared with 26 inches when she was married in 1947.

The newspaper said Elizabeth's new diet is virtually liquid-free, cutting out fruit, alcohol and soups, with only a half-cup of tea at breakfast and in the afternoon and a half-cup of coffee at dinner.

VENICE, Italy (UP)—Salvatore Cannarozzo, Italy's most daring parachute jumper, fell 9,000 feet to his death on the grounds of Lido cemetery Sunday when his parachute failed to open at an air show.

RCRs and Princess Pats Win Fierce Korea Battle

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Canadian troops Sunday beat back 750 to 1,000 Chinese in a fierce 2½-hour battle inside Allied lines on the western front northeast of Panmunjom.

The 8th Army said the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry took the brunt of the Red assault.

The Reds were driven off only after "intense hand-to-hand combat in the trenches," the 8th Army said.

A Canadian spokesman said the Chinese attacked about 11.30 p.m. Saturday night after ambushing a Canadian patrol in no-man's-land.

A second patrol was sent out to rescue the remnants of the first. Then the Chinese attacked the main British and Canadian positions.

The Reds opened up with a 1,000-round barrage of artillery and mortar fire on the Commonwealth positions northeast of Korangpop between Little Gibraltar Hill and the Hook.

Little Gibraltar and the Hook are 10 to 12 miles northeast of Panmunjom, where the armistice talks are being held.

The Chinese made a feint toward the British Royal Fusiliers with heavy mortar and machine-gun fire, and then hit the Canadians.

"They came in screaming, hurling grenades and firing inch guns."

UN Ultimatum Marks Shaky Truce Talks

Reds Told to Accept Pakistan as Neutral Custodian for PWs or Face Another Break-Off

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—Official sources said today Pakistan would "consider favorably" any request for its services as a haven for Korean war prisoners unwilling to go home.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations told the Communists today to accept Pakistan as neutral custodian of Korean war prisoners or face another break-off of truce talks.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN truce delegate, earlier had offered a major compromise by nominating Pakistan as caretaker country for 46,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners unwilling to return to Communism.

Pakistan was one of four Asian nations which the Communists had defined as acceptable neutrals, and when North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head Communist negotiator, ignored the offer, Harrison became blunt.

"The continued evasion by your side can only be considered as inspired by motives other than those of reaching an equitable agreement," Harrison told Nam.

Without mentioning Harrison's offer on Pakistan, Nam asked for a recess until 11 a.m. Tuesday.

After the meeting, Harrison said "the Communists 'apparently don't even want to discuss the subject.'"

CANADIANS FIGHT OFF ASSAULT BY CHINESE

JET AIRLINER CRASH CAUSE UNEXPLAINED

43 Killed When Comet Goes Down

CALCUTTA (CP) — One of Britain's famed new Comet jet passenger planes crashed in a heavy storm near here Saturday and airline officials said all 43 persons aboard were killed.

It was the first disaster in the brief history of commercial jet air travel and the first fatal crash of a Comet carrying a payload.

The four-jet airliner operated by the British Overseas Airways Corporation crashed only a few minutes after it took off from Dum Dum airport here for New Delhi.

It was on a flight from Singapore to London. Radio contact with the plane stopped six minutes after it took off in a heavy rain.

A ground rescue party reached the wreckage Sunday afternoon and reported none of the 37 passengers and crew of six had survived the crash, which occurred 22 miles northwest of Calcutta in barren country. Preliminary reports said the crash may have been caused by a fire or explosion shortly after take-off.

The victims included 11 women, one of them the stewardess, and two children.

'Laugh, It's in the Script'

Don McManus, "Corvino," in production of Ben Jonson's "Volpone," to be presented by Players' Club Alumni of UBC at Saturday matinee of Dominion Drama Festival, being held at Royal Theatre all this week, tries out one of broad comedy lines from play, while Peter Manning, who co-directs with Philip Keatley, gives lines and gesture

close attention. Rehearsals, discussions were taking place in all parts of Empress Hotel today as casts lost no time in winding up for an all-out bid for the Calvert Trophy and $1,000 cash award announcement of which will crown festival week, Saturday night. Altogether 10 awards will be made following final adjudication, (Times Photo.)

DON'T BE LATE OR YOU'LL HAVE TO WAIT

Feverish Activities Mark Opening of Drama Festival

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Casts and directors from all across Canada were gathering at the Empress Hotel over the week-end, as preparations for launching of the Dominion Drama Festival at the Royal Theatre tonight reached a climax.

Of the eight groups which will stage plays during this week, four had registered Sunday night. The rest arrived today. Rehearsals began immediately and hard-working stage crews and wardrobe mistresses converged on the theatre.

(Other pictures, stories on drama festival Pages 3 and 13.)

The interim was filled Sunday night with a reception in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel, when Donald Cromie, president of the national executive, and members of the executive committee entertained incoming casts and members of the local committee and board of governors.

Edmonton Studio Theatre's production of Shakespeare's tragedy of "Othello" will open the festival tonight. The parts of Othello, the Moor, and his lovely Venetian wife, Desdemona, are being played by a real life couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hood.

MRS. HAYNES DIRECTS

Othello, who is lured into the murder of his devoted wife in a passion of jealousy roused by the planting of false compromising evidence in the form of a handkerchief, is considered one of Shakespeare's most poignant and noble characters. Iago, the trusted officer whose own jealousy prompts his cruel deception, is probably one of the most enviable parts to be assigned to any actor.

The play is directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, who has an international reputation in the theatre.

Approximately 300 visitors are in town for the festival and theatre conference which takes place at the Empress, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings and afternoons. Thursday afternoon will see a performance of the unique Indian music-drama, "Tzingaw," staged at the York Theatre for the benefit of conference visitors.

The curtain goes up at 8.15 tonight—and don't be late, for rules of the festival say that if you are, you will have to wait for a suitable interval before being shown to your seat.

Vancouver Stocks
Reeves MacDonald dropped 28 cents on Vancouver Stock Exchange today on news the mine will be closed down. Shares were quoted at $2 last week. Today's final bid was 1.72.

Profit-taking caused National Exploration and Beaverlodge, last week's chief gainers, to slip a bit. Exploration closed at 76, down four on the day. Beaverlodge ended at 1.57, a five-cent decline.

Elsewhere on the list trading was light and price changes minor.

OL' VIC SAYS:
Othello an' some o' these Drama plays may hev their moments, but it'll take somethin' t' equal our recent local efforts, like fr instance Bennett beggin' th' Opposition t' slip 'im th' knife.

RCRs and Princess Pats Win Fierce Korea Battle

SEOUL, Korea (CP) — Canadian troops Sunday beat back 750 to 1,000 Chinese in a fierce 2½-hour battle inside Allied lines on the western front northeast of Panmunjom.

The 8th Army said the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry took the brunt of the Red assault.

"The Reds were driven off only after 'intense hand-to-hand combat in the trenches,'" the 8th Army said.

A Canadian spokesman said the Chinese attacked about 11.30 p.m. Saturday night after ambushing a Canadian patrol in no-man's-land.

A second patrol was sent out to rescue the remnants of the first. Then the Chinese attacked the main British and Canadian positions.

The Reds opened up with a 1,000-round barrage of artillery and mortar fire on the Commonwealth positions northeast of Korangpop between Little Gibraltar Hill and the Hook.

Little Gibraltar and the Hook are 10 to 12 miles northeast of Panmunjom, where the armistice talks are being held.

The Chinese made a feint toward the British Royal Fusiliers with heavy mortar and machine-gun fire, and then hit the Canadians.

"They came in screaming, hurling grenades and firing heavily," one British officer said.

During the attack the second Canadian patrol returned and found the Chinese had overrun their forward trenches.

"One of our men came back to find Chinese looting his bunker," said a Canadian officer. "Two of them came out carrying his boots. He killed them, took his boots back to his bunker and put them under his bed."

By 2 a.m. Sunday the Canadians had cleared out all the Chinese and forced them to withdraw.

The fighting was the toughest in which the Commonwealth Division has been involved since it returned to the line about a month ago.

Meanwhile, the United States Navy, in one of its heaviest blows of the war, flattened 228 communist buildings on the Korean northeast coast Sunday.

Two carriers, the Princeton and the Valley Forge, hurled scores of planes into the attack on supply areas around Hungnam and Humhung.

The 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey stood off shore and pounded the area with its 16-inch guns.

UN Ultimatum Marks Shaky Truce Talks

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP) — Official sources said today Pakistan would "consider favorably" any request for its services as a haven for Korean war prisoners unwilling to go home.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The United Nations told the Communists today to accept Pakistan as neutral custodian of Korean war prisoners or face another break-off of truce talks.

Li Gen, William K. Harrison, chief UN truce delegate, earlier had offered a major compromise by nominating Pakistan as caretaker country for 46,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners unwilling to return to Communism.

Pakistan was one of four Asian nations which the Communists had defined as acceptable neutrals, and when North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head of Communist negotiator, ignored the offer, Harrison became blunt.

"The continued evasion by your side can only be considered as inspired by motives other than those of reaching an equitable agreement," Harrison told Nam.

ELIZABETH the Queen
By Marion Crawford
Former Governor to Her Majesty

The intimate biography of Queen Elizabeth, written by her good friend and former governess Marion Crawford, appears exclusively in the Victoria Daily Times in 28 chapters, beginning today. Out of her 17 years of close association with the royal family "Crawford" has previously published "The Little Princesses" and "Mother and Queen: The Story of Queen Mary."

MY STORY starts on the evening of Nov. 14, 1948. A Sunday. My husband, whose name is George, and I were awaiting an important announcement while listening to the radio at our home in Nottingham Cottage, Kensington.

Mr. Baker, the Buckingham Palace telephone operator, was on the line and in a clear, cultured voice, he said: "Madam, Sir Dermot Kavanagh would like to speak to you."

A moment later I heard the voice of Sir Dermot, who is the Royal Equerry, in charge of all the Royal horses and motor cars. Unlike Mr. Baker, he did not speak in an evenly modulated voice. He was exuberant: "Crawford, I wanted you to be the first outside the palace to know. It's a boy!"
